Railroad station, Railroad Avenue early Sunday. Firemen said it was completely involved in flames when they arrived.

Clothing Appeal For Fire Victims

Officials of the Modena Fire Department today issued an appeal to area residents for clothing for three children of the personal belongings. Sunday afternoon when fire destroyed their trailer home in Schryver Trailer Park.

Chief William DePew was in command of Modena firemen who battled the flames but were unable to save the home. Clintondale firefighters were dispatched to the scene to assist. The Taylor children are a 7-month-old girl, a 5-year-old boy and a two-year-old girl. Clothing may be left at the Modena firehouse, officials said. The family was not at home at the time the fire started. The origin of the blaze was not immediately determined, officials reported.

State Toll Includes Area Water Victim

A 44-year-old Town of Wawarsing camp laborer and a 29-year-old water-skier of Big Flats were among the 27 accidental deaths in New York State over the weekend.

The area camp laborer, described by Ellenville State Police as a non-swimmer, accidentally drowned at about 3 p. m. Sunday when he stepped into deep water while wading in Honk Lake in that township.

The drowning victim was identified as Edward Lee Zeno, 44, of 2 Re'd Avenue, Brooklyn, according to Richard Pinnow, now, the victim, an employee at Camp Rav-Tov, waded with other bathers in the lake, when he reached a point where the water dropped from a depth of a few feet to 20 feet, about 10 feet off the beach.

Zeno, the report said, disappeared below the surface and a companion, Louis Quintana, 25, Brooklyn, and other bathers

Quick Settlement Dimmed Gives Glum Word About Airlines

WASHINGTON (AP)—Airline strike negotiations reopened today on a sharp note that further dimmed hope of a quick settlement of the walk-out that started Friday.

Joseph Ramsey, vice president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists and chief union negotiator, entered

YMCA Launching Job Service for Local Teenagers

The YMCA launched today a Teen-Age Youth Employment Service aimed at finding summer jobs for over 360 Kingston area youth already known to be unsuccessful job-seekers.

Robert D. Stubbs, executive director of the YMCA, told The Freeman that as of July 1, the NYS Employment Office had 262 registered youth for whom there were no jobs. In addition, the recreation department has had to turn away an estimated 100 applicants, and the YMCA and other agencies received requests from teen-agers for employment daily, Stubbs said.

Seek Occasional Jobs
"This boundless teen-age energy needs to be channeled into constructive activity during the summer months," he added, and the YMCA is attempting to find an answer. Since the "Business" and "Resort" communities are apparently already fully-staffed for the summer months, the object of the Y's program will be to locate "occasional" or "part-time" job opportunities for youth. The program is beamed primarily at the housewife, but businessmen with "occasional" or "part-time" jobs are also encouraged to call the "Y," Stubbs said.

Such jobs as lawn mowing, mother's helpers, yard work, painting, cleaning out the basement, caddy, baby-sitting, ironing, sales or stock clerks, and window washing are among the jobs that teens can do. Stubbs suggested that some talented teens might also be successfully employed as "tutors" for younger children who need help with certain school subjects. Teen-agers often make up in enthusiasm what they lack in experience, Stubbs suggested.

It was emphasized that the YMCA has sought the advice of the NYS Employment Office from the outset of the idea, and that a cordial and most cooperative hand has been extended by the Employment Office to assist. The close proximity of the two agencies will make for ease of communications, Stubbs said.

The YMCA is a participating the conference room and said: "The public should know that there hasn't been five minutes of real negotiating since this strike started."

Just Asking Share

"These carriers are standing pat, protecting their profits, waiting for the President or Congress to help them out. 'Union members on the airlines are asking to share in the profits.'"

"After all these years when they have accepted substandard conditions, airline employees are entitled to a better deal."

Ramsey handed out mimeographed copies of the statement but declined to elaborate on it, saying, "We better get on with the job."

William J. Curtin, chief negotiator for the five struck airlines—Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United—arrived in the hallway as Ramsey was speaking, and listened before entering a separate conference room.

Defends Airline Stand

"We have endorsed the emergency board recommendations which the President himself characterized as the framework for a just settlement of the dispute, and we have improved upon it in our negotiations."

Curtin said evidence before the emergency board indicated clearly that airline employees are treated far better than most in terms of working conditions.

During fruitless weekend negotiations, officials of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists met in one conference room in the basement of the Labor Department building, airline officials in another.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, who shuttled between the two rooms, arranged the joint meeting, telling reporters that 10 hours of talks Saturday and Sunday had brought no progress.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz was keeping President Johnson posted on negotiations, Reynolds said. Johnson returns to Washington from his Texas ranch today.

Wirtz Pessimistic

Wirtz, who was touring the Far East when the strike started, entered the sluggish negotiations Sunday. As talks moved into the night, he told reporters, "I should say with all candor that there is no reasonable basis for expecting any major developments in the situation."

As talks recessed, for the night, Reynolds had a glum report. "I think the time has come for resuming joint meetings," he said. "I think it is extremely important that this be done."

Results Boost Brandt Stock

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's political stock rose today after his Socialist party scored big election gains in West Germany's richest and most populous state.

The outcome of the balloting Sunday in North Rhine-Westphalia dealt a sharp blow to the prestige of Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, whose Christian Democrats lost 10 seats in the state Parliament.

The ruling coalition of Christian Democrats and Free Democrats emerged with the barest majority of 101 of the 200 seats. The Socialists picked up nine seats from the Christian Democrats. With 99 seats in Parliament, they are now the strongest

Face Major Decisions, Rest Ends

Congress Returns; Viet, Aid Pending

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress, ending a 10-day vacation today, barely has time to put down its suitcases before shouldering the burden of major decisions on the Viet Nam war and foreign aid.

Due in Both Houses

Both houses are expected to take up Tuesday the compromise version of a $17.4-billion bill to authorize procurement of military hardware and pave the way for an across-the-board pay raise for the armed services. Actual funds depend on appropriation measures to be considered later.

The authorization bill, substantially larger than administration recommendations, includes provision for several controversial items such as a nuclear frigate and a start on a second, and development of a new manned bomber and the Nike X antimissile system.

The House next takes up its version of the $4.1-billion foreign aid authorization act, which for the first time would authorize a two-year program. Congress previously has insisted on authorizing foreign aid only a year at a time, with a full review each year.

The Senate has a different version which may be considered late in the week, or more probably next week. Viet Nam and foreign policy generally are certain to figure largely in the debate in both chambers.

Minor Matters Today

The House has only minor matters before it today, but the Senate considers a House-passed bill to give federal civilian employees a pay raise of about 2.9 per cent, with improvements in fringe benefits.

The Senate, after acting on the defense authorization, is scheduled to take up legislation for stepping up programs to alleviate water and air pollution.

There he met and talked with 80 Ulster County Democrats, including the delegates to the forthcoming Sept. 4-5 party convention in Buffalo. O'Connor did not, however, win immediate endorsement of his bid to upset the Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller administration in November. ## Mauled Cong Unit Escapes

3 Copters Lost, 13 Killed on One

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Viet Cong shot down three American helicopter units in South Viet Nam, killing four U.S. and nine South Vietnamese soldiers, while two more U.S. jets were lost in the air war against the Communist North, an American spokesman announced today.

Oil Raids Stir Public Approval Of War: Polls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undersecretary of State George W. Ball said today polls show a rise in U.S. public approval of the conduct of the Viet Nam war since the bombing of oil installations in the north.

He drew a degree of encouragement from the long-range bearing that may have on North Viet Nam's view of the prospects.

Skirts Election Angle

Interviewed on the NBC television show "Today," Ball skirted around a direct response to a question on whether the outcome of the November general elections in the United States may influence North Vietnamese thinking.

But he conceded the Communists apparently are putting stock in their estimate that the American people are sharply divided over the conflict, and added:

"Unless and until the regime in North Viet Nam is persuaded the United States is going to see this thing through, it looks

285th Plane Lost

A Navy fighter-bomber became the 285th plane lost in the 17-month air war against North Viet Nam early today. The bombing continued with an attack on another oil storage depot 130 miles west-northwest of Hanoi near the old French base of Dien Bien Phu. The pilots reported that two buildings were damaged.

Ground fighting in South Viet Nam died down, with both U.S. and Vietnamese headquarters reporting only light patrol contacts.

In the jungles northwest of Saigon, a battered Viet Cong regiment escaped toward the Cambodian border, leaving at least 238 dead after the U.S. 1st Infantry Division decimated the guerrillas into a furious fight.

All 13 helicopter deaths came when a U.S. UH1D Iroquois was shot down 18 miles southeast of Ca Mau in southernmost An Xuyen Province, which has been relatively quiet in recent months. The U.S. spokesman had no further details.

None Lost on Others

The two other helicopters—both Marine CH34 troop-cargo carriers—went down in the northern part of the country 12 miles northwest of the Marine base at Chu Lai. There were no casualties in either crash.

The Communists nailed a chopper as it ferried in Marines to protect another CH34 which had gone down Sunday night with mechanical trouble. A second CH34 was brought down by the Reds this morning in the same area, however, the original helicopter was repaired and returned to action, a spokesman said.

Cornell Landmark, Ex-Rail Room Hit

Incendiism, which has obsessed local firemen with frightening frequency for more than two years, continued this morning in the city after two damaging weekend fires were included in the rash now under police probe.

Two in URA Site
Two deliberately set fires were reported this morning in downtown buildings owned by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, after a raging blaze Sunday swept through the former West Shore station baggage room on Railroad Avenue and on Saturday damaged the former Cornell building at 22-26 Ferry Street, now owned by the county.

Firemen said paper and debris had been set afire in two areas of a three-story, mercantile and apartment building at 11 Hasbrouck Avenue, owned by the URA, and another had been set in a vacant three-story house at 42 Mill Street this morning.

They followed a two-alarm blaze reported at 12:52 a. m. Sunday, which damaged the vacant Railroad Avenue Baggage room. Firemen said it was completely involved in flames when they arrived.

Five Firemen Hurt

Five firemen were injured in fighting the blaze, which threatened damage to the nearby West Shore and Eichler hotels. Two cars parked on Railroad Avenue were damaged.

A second alarm was sounded by Capt. Harry L. Sils when he noted that the raging blaze threatened the hotels. The West Shore Hotel, across the street, was evacuated.

The alarms from Box 1126, Railroad Avenue and Thomas Street, mobilized units from Central and Wiltwyck stations with Deputy Chief Glyn M. Southard in charge. Two 1½-inch and three 2½-inch streams were used.

Nearly Cars Damaged

Injured were volunteer firemen Robert J. Kmiecak, 244 Albany Avenue, head; Frank Hogan, 298 Clinton Avenue, Sator; Ronald Port, 141 Main Street, thumb and two of Central Station; Robert Gollnick, smoke inhalation, and Gerard Keider, nail in left foot. Three of them were hospitalized.

Cars owned by Chester Myers, of 120 Grand Street, and J. Waldo Coutant, of 37 Railroad Avenue, parked near the fire were damaged.

Joseph F. Way, of 7 Day Street, New York is listed as owner of the former baggage and express room. He had also owned the old West Shore station which has been razed.

An alarm for the fire in the former Cornell building on Ferry Street was sounded at 8 p. m. Saturday from Box 2141, Broadway and East Strand by J. Bechtold, of 337 Foxhall Avenue.

Firemen found an area between the first and second floors ablaze when they arrived. It damaged the stairs, wall and ceiling areas, and a section of wall was removed in tracing fire.

List Four In Key China Jobs Move Up After Purge in Peking

TOKYO (AP)—Four men appear to have moved into key positions in Red China's Communist hierarchy as a result of the sweeping purge in the nation's leadership.

The four were spotlighted over the weekend when most of China's top leaders appeared at a reception for delegates to an Asian-African writers' conference in Peking.

Reported in Detail

The list of the leaders and their titles was reported in detail by Peking Radio, the official New China News Agency and Peking newspapers. Foreign observers in Tokyo believe this may have been Communist party chief Mao Tze-tung's way of announcing the team with which he intends to push forward his "cultural revolution."

The four men given new prominence were: —Marshal Yeh Chien-yin, who was raised to the Central Committee's important 12-man secretariat. He is considered a possible successor to Gen. Lo Jiching as army chief of the general staff.

May Replace Mayor

—Chen Po-ta, Mao's former secretary and editor in chief of the party's theoretical journal "Red Flag." He was identified as "leader of the group in charge of the cultural revolution under the party's Central Committee."

—Vice Premier Tao Chu, who replaces Vice Premier Lu Ting-i as party propaganda chief.

—Kang Shen, party theoretician and alternate member of the Politburo who is considered a possible successor to Peking's disgraced mayor, Peng Chen.

Solons Restore $2.6 Million For Various County Projects

More than $2.8 million dollars has been returned to the New York State Budget for various construction projects throughout Ulster County, it was announced today by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock.

According to Wilson the projects will include a new chairlift at the Belleayre Ski Center, various additions to the State University at New Paltz, a new water system at the State Training School for Boys at Highland, and a series of new additions to the Eastern Correctional Institution at Napanoch.

All of these items had been knocked out of the current State budget by the Democratic-controlled Assembly Ways and Means Committee earlier this year, but through the efforts of the local Assemblyman, with the full cooperation of the Governor, Assembly Minority Leader Perry P. Duray, and Assembly Speaker Anthony Travia, the projects were restored in the supplemental budget which was approved on the closing day of the State Legislature.

Assemblyman Wilson said that he was particularly pleased that he was able to have had restored the $200,000 which is required for a new double chairlift at the Belleayre Ski Center. The Assemblyman pointed out that the new chairlift will replace an existing T-Bar lift at the State facility, and is greatly needed because of the ever-increasing growth of the local recreational center. Wilson also noted that the Belleayre Ski Center is one of the few State-operated facilities which more than pays for its own cost of operation, and therefore is not a drain on the taxpayers.

According to Assemblyman Wilson, the balance of the $2.6 million dollars which was approved in the supplemental budget for the county will include $205,000 for new additions to the Fine Arts Building and the Campus School at the State University at New Paltz, as well as the installation of air-conditioning systems in two dining halls at the local State University. A total of $80,000 was also put back in the State budget for the construction of a new pumping station and water filtration plant at the State Training School for Boys at Highland. Assemblyman Wilson said the remainder of the funds will be allocated for various new buildings and additions at the Eastern Correctional Institute at Napanoch.

Social Workers Support Medicaid

At a recent meeting of the Hudson Valley Chapter of the National Association for Social Workers, the membership of this professional organization strongly recommended the support of the Medical Assistance Program for needy persons, it was announced by Miss Phyllis Hatch, president of the local chapter.

In keeping with the philosophy and concepts of social work practice, the membership of the local chapter adopted the following resolution.

"The New York State Legislature passed the Medical Assistance Program for Needy Persons."

"Governor Nelson Rockefeller signed the bill into law on April 30."

"Many citizens have criticized the financial aspects of the program."

"Be it resolved that the Hudson Valley Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers maintains that these criticisms, real though some of these may be, should not blind our fellow citizens to the many progressive features of this program designed to meet the medical need of people.

"As social workers, we daily see the need for this program if we are to eliminate poverty from New York State and if all our fellow citizens are to enjoy life in a democracy."

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Folks:

A gentleman wrote about charcoal broiling extra steaks while his pit was going, and wrapping them in foil for later use.

His idea was that the steaks could be heated in the oven later; that is saved not only time but lighting up the pit again and using more charcoal.

I tried this, and it is wonderful. I, personally, could not tell the difference.

But I expanded on the idea. When my fire died I also put two slabs of ribs on the grill and smoked them beautifully. I let them cool and put them in the deep freezer.

Then, when we were hankering for charcoal ribs, I just finished cooking them in my oven and they were delicious.

A good way to give liquid medicine to people of all ages, especially small children, is to put it in a small one ounce glass.

This saves trying to pour out a teaspoonful of medicine, and giving it to a child (especially at night) without spilling it.

All you have to do is pour the medicine into a teaspoon (holding it over the glass in case it spills), dump it into the glass, and give it to the patient.

Welk Defends His Music, Moves To Add Teeners

By LAWRENCE WELK

(For Cynthia Lowry)

EDITOR'S NOTE—The hip musical shows, the variety hours come and go, but Lawrence Welk and his bouncy, danceable beat bubbles on year after year—and it will be his 12th on ABC next fall. Here he defends the kind of music he makes—and prefers.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Descriptive labels seem to be a part of the entertainment business. They include "cool," "hip," "far out," "Corny," "square." It's only natural that the champagne music makers would come in for a share of this.

Appeals to Mature Viewers

"Square" is the word most frequently applied to me.

Now, how could I possibly resent that? It's no secret that our music appeals to the more mature audience.

The rating services show that mothers are our most loyal fans, fathers are the next most numerous group, followed by the smaller children, then the teen-agers.

It is difficult to please everyone, even members of the same family. Teen-agers are in frequent disagreement with their elders, not only in the matter of music. Often the very fact that something is enjoyed by the parents is enough to have it branded "corny" by the youngsters. It works both ways.

Actually we very much want to add more teen-agers to our audience, and are making every effort to accomplish this without alienating our loyal older fans.

On this year's spring tour, more teen-agers came to see us than ever before. Several times I was told, "Mr. Welk, I'm one teen-ager who enjoys your music."

I'm sure that our young entertainers, Barbara Boylan and Bobby Burgess, the Lennon Sisters and the Blanders, have contributed to this.

Keep Tab on Charts

We watch the charts for what the kids like and are including some of the modern beat in our music. We now use two guitars on our show, and as many as three on recordings. The kids like guitars.

Back to that appellation, "square."

In the reading Aladdin has done several times on our show—"The Square," by Charles S. Brower—the term means loving your country, honoring your father and mother and following the rules of fair play—the principles that made our country great. Under this definition, I'm proud to be called a "square."

I've probably been kidded as much as any figure in the entertainment business. This sort of thing is part of America. Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy were the targets of some very witty satire and accepted it in good spirit.

A few years ago the very talented Stan Freeberg put out a popular record, an extremely funny take-off on me and on our orchestra. I enjoyed it immensely. Not only did Stan do an excellent job, but he used our theme song, "Bubbles in the Wine," which is my composition and on which I collected royalties on every record sold!

Medicare Patients Must Produce Card

George J. Habernig, district manager, Kingston Social Security Administration stated today that after the first week of Medicare it has been found that many people who were admitted to hospitals did not have their red, white and blue Medicare Identification Card with them.

Habernig pointed out that the identification number on the card is the key to the payment of hospital and medical bills. Habernig suggests that residents who have received the red, white and blue identification card carry it with them at all times.

If a resident is admitted to a hospital, Habernig stated, and he either did not receive an identification card as yet, or lost the one he received, procedures have been worked out whereby the hospital may obtain information from the Social Security District Office. However, if the patient has that identification number the hospital can process the necessary papers without delay and added work.

Bus Carrying 45 Flips in Wind Gust, 23 Injured

DEPEW, N.Y. (AP) — A chartered bus, carrying 45 New York City residents home from a weekend excursion to Niagara Falls, overturned Sunday on the State Thruway near this Buffalo suburb during a heavy rain-storm, injuring 23 persons, none seriously.
Five of the injured were admitted to Meyer Memorial Hospital. The rest were discharged after treatment.
The bus driver, Robert D. Martin, 37, of Brooklyn, told State Police a gust of wind caught the back of the vehicle, forcing it into an embankment on the right side of the road, troopers said.
When he tried to steer the bus back onto the highway, troopers said, it flipped over on its side.
Martin and his son, Eric, were among those hospitalized.

Red Cross officials made arrangements to house the others overnight in hotels and motels. The passengers, most of them from the Williamsburgh section of Brooklyn, were members of a neighborhood group that has sponsored trips to Niagara Falls for the last three years.

One of the passengers, Luis A. Lopez, 18, a senior at Boys High School in Brooklyn, said the bus began swerving back and forth shortly after the downpour began.

"Then the bus flipped over and women and girls began screaming. I remembered my high school first aid training and tried to calm people down," he said.

Worth Knowing

When asked if we had ever heard of "Breaking on the wheel," we thought of car brakes, but a student then described an ancient form of torture by that name: "It was a horrible method of putting criminals to death. The criminal was fastened to two pieces of wood which formed an X, with arms and legs extended. With a heavy iron bar they then broke his arms and legs at the joints and thighs. Then he was spread on a carriage wheel, held up by a stake, and left to suffer until he died. Later the suffering was shortened by a final blow to the breast, neck or spine. Sometimes he was strangled before the breaking. The last known date of such torture was in Prussia in 1811." Not a pleasant subject, so let's go to the happy fact that we can save you money right now!

Test to Protect Infants From Mental Disorder

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A test to protect infants from one cause of mental retardation is among the results of the State research program.

That development was cited by President Samuel B. Gould, who issued a summary Saturday of some of the achievements in the program.

The so-called PKU test is designed to reveal if an infant has an inborn metabolic disorder which, if left untreated, could cause severe retardation.

The test was established by Dr. Robert Guthrie, associate professor of pediatrics at the State University at Buffalo school of medicine.
Other achievements include:
—Protection against radiation for some laboratory animals that could lead to protection for humans against lethal doses of radiation. Dr. Willard J. Visek and Dr. Hung Chen Dang, researchers in radiation biology at the College of Agriculture at Cornell discovered that partial protection was provided by injection of an enzyme.
—An inexpensive process of impregnating wood with plastic, developed by Dr. Phillip M. Sawyer, head of a team of surgeons, at the university's Downstate Medical Center.

Gould noted that $20 million of the research funds came from federal and private grants. The state supplied $15 million.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Geological Survey reports that serious drought conditions still exist in sections of nine states, including Long Is-

In June the report said, the average streamflow was deficient in most of the West and in a wide band across the mid-

The survey's findings were continent to the East. The survey also said that ground-water levels in most sections of the country declined seasonably and were below average.

COMPUTERIZED CITIZENS

A Missouri senator and a New Jersey congressman delivered themselves of some cautionary words not long ago. The subject of their remarks warrants the deep and thoughtful concern of all who cherish the concept of retaining the maximum of individual freedom possible in a complex society.

Sen. Edward V. Long said this: "Somewhere along the line toward government efficiency, we must cease pushing our citizens into the computer." And Rep. Cornelius Gallagher said this: "People worry about who has the button on nuclear weapons. We've got to start worrying about who has the button on the computer."

What they were referring to was a Budget Bureau consultant's proposal that the federal government establish a consolidated data center stuffed with information—on income taxes, Social Security benefits, school pupils' family backgrounds, and so forth—about the entire populace. Under this plan, information from numerous federal agencies would be put on a billion punch cards. Moreover, in the words of a report to the Budget Bureau, all this information would be poured out "in full available detail . . . without screening for confidentiality."

Such a data center would doubtless be a great convenience for government agencies. It would step up efficiency, and reduce the wastefulness of overlapping efforts to gather information about Americans. Yet even if the computers were programmed to exercise some control over who got a look at this or that information, there would be plenty of chances for abuse of privacy. "Somewhere along the line toward government efficiency," as Senator Long warned, "we must cease pushing our citizens into the computer."

THE H-BOMB SPREAD

The French, said to be a proud people, have something special to be proud of just now. Without benefit of know-how from the United States or, presumably, any other atomic power, they have pushed atomic weapons development to the verge of having their own thermonuclear bomb.

That was the word from French officials after the recent blast in the Pacific. This was the first in a series of tests that may possibly culminate in the explosion of a hydrogen "device," perhaps even as early as President De Gaulle's visit to the test center in mid-September.

Such an achievement by French nuclear scientists and technicians would indeed be a thing to evoke pride in the patriotic breast. But for thoughtful men this is an ominous reminder that we are nearing the end of our chance to halt the spread of nuclear weapons. We are closer to the dread time when many nations, not just a few, will be able to brandish such weapons in the arena of world power.

EISENHOWER'S ADVICE

On the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary, former President and Mrs. Eisenhower gave some wise counsel which ought to receive reflective attention from all Americans and especially those of the younger generations. The Eisenhowers' perceptive views on life's meaningful values and virtues are in sharp contrast to the attitudes of some young people today who seem to have lost their sense of balance on what is proper and improper behavior.

The former President's comments in regard to present-day school and college youth are especially noteworthy. "They shouldn't allow themselves to be ruined and misled by a bunch of exhibitionists. These people are a little bewildered. They have lost their hold on moral values."

He lauded the overwhelming majority of young people who are decent and sensible but he condemned in appropriate language the antics of "those cockeyed kooks who attack the virtues of a civilization. Their exhibitionism is from an inferiority complex."

"There are two words that don't have to be defined; decency and indecency. When they violate those, then it's time for us to wake up from the apathy. Universities and

REPUBLICANS LOOK AT THE FUTURE

The Republican Party hasn't distinguished itself recently either at the polls or as a "loyal opposition" in Congress. Nor does it seem to be making much effort to dramatize, through the activities of its National Committee, the issues that might be used to beat Democrats next November. Amid the general melancholy that this columnist feels when he contemplates Republican activities, however, it is a pleasure to report that some Republicans are doing a bit of solid thinking about the future of their party in the strange new world that will be upon us when the Vietnamese War has been finally trundled off stage.

The solid thinking turns up in a study, "Where the Votes Are," that has just been issued by the staff of Senator Bourke Hickenlooper's U. S. Senate Republican Policy Committee. What distinguishes this study is its almost total avoidance of the clichés of usual political discourse. Instead of gabbling about the "mainstream" or "consensus," the Hickenlooper staff has tried to map the contours of the world of the Nineteen Seventies, with an eye to determining the issues that must be met in order to attract a majority of the votes. Plunging into the thick of things after some rather lugubrious observations on falling Republican registration figures, the report observes that all the old "power centers"—labor, the farm bloc, Big Business—are losing ground to the new power group of the professional and managerial middle class. This new power group is not particularly "party minded"; it tends to vote "in terms of a reaction to problems, not an allegiance to philosophies." The new power group is accustomed to both affluence and security, and it knows little about the world of the Nineteen Thirties, which still controls the politics of Lyndon Johnson's generation. In a few more years the young, with no memories of the Depression or World War II, will be taking over completely. The Hickenlooper report observes that "with citizens over age thirty-five increasing by less than 18 million, while citizens under thirty-five increase fully 61 million, certain political inevitabilities become starkly obvious."

We had a well-advertised baby boom in 1945-55. It added 25 million to the population. Ten years from now, when the babies have babies in their turn, a "hospital-busting 46 million increase will begin." So politics will become the art of accommodating to crowds, crowds, crowds. It will be a "school-centered society," preoccupied with the problem of educating new millions. It will be increasingly worried about providing the young with adequate teachers, and "in less than 10 years we'll have more teachers voting than farmers." (Exit the farm bloc, enter the educationist bloc.)

The farms of America will be businesses, many of which will not be doing actual farming. Much of the "farm vote" will be split among tree service men, landscape gardeners, greenhouse keepers, hatchery experts, purveyors of veterinary and breeding services, kennel owners and operators of contract farm services, all of whom will tend to think as professional and managerial characters interested in the general American environment. The problem of the "surplus" will have completely disappeared, for much of the world outside America will be in a perpetual race between the population explosion and starvation.

The Hickenlooper report argues that the "small" irritants of yesterday will become the "major, nerve-shattering issues of today and tomorrow." Pollution will be our biggest headache. The politician will be judged on his responses to the problem of getting sewage and industrial wastes out of Lake Erie or the Connecticut River, and smoke and grime and sulfur out of the metropolitan air.

The Hickenlooper group doesn't want to see Washington becoming the "senior partner" in the politics of meeting the problems of the new world. It notes that an "eight-state Ohio River Compact Commission" is even now using its authority to compel industries in the Ohio Basin to return to the river water as pure or purer than that withdrawn. With reference to the growth of the Negro population, the report observes that "Republicans could sponsor a wide variety of training programs, even financial assistance programs, to enable the nonwhite to learn business and commercial operations, to become managers or owners of the many, many service-type establishments needed in urban areas."

This is constructive Republicanism, something for every Republican to go to work on, whether his name be Rockefeller, or Reagan, or Romney, or just plain Joe Doakes.

THE WELL CHILD

Don't Overprotect
The Asthmatic Child

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Although asthma is a disease that affects many adults, in most cases it has its onset before the age of 5. The first sign of asthma in most children is a recurrent cough. Later the coughing is associated with wheezing.

It is important to remember, however, that all wheezing is not due to true (allergic) asthma. It may also be caused by inhaling a nut, popcorn or other foreign body. When this is the cause, removal of the offender through a bronchoscope cures the wheezing.

In many cases of asthma one or more members of the victim's family have asthma or some other form of allergy such as hives or hay fever. An environment of emotional tension is an important factor in other cases. The immediate cause may be animal dander, house dust, a pollen or some food.

A study was made recently on a group of newborns who were closely related to asthmatics. One half were given the usual varied diet and the other half were given no foods containing cow products, chicken, eggs or wheat in their first nine months of life. In the next 10 years, five times as many on the varied diet developed asthma as in the group with the restricted diet.

Another factor in causing or aggravating asthma is repeated attacks of respiratory infection.

About 50 per cent of the children with mild asthma outgrow it by the time they are 15. If they have an associated eczema or hay fever, their chances of outgrowing the asthma are poor and if the victims are girls their chances are not as good as if they are boys. Those who have severe or frequent attacks usually have the disease throughout their lives.

The first step in the treatment is to find and eliminate—especially from the bedroom—the immediate cause of the attacks. This may be a chair stuffed with horse hair, a feather pillow, woolen clothes or a pet dog or cat. An often-neglected part of the treatment is to see that the child gets enough fluid. Daily doses of potassium iodide may help by loosening the secretions of the bronchial tubes.

For acute attacks inhalation of adrenalin through an atomizer usually gives dramatic relief. If the condition is persistent, small daily doses of cortisone may be required and in some children desensitizing injections may be helpful.

If your child has asthma you should avoid overprotecting him because this will add to his emotional problems as he grows older. When he starts to go to school you should tell his teacher about his condition and he should be allowed to take his medicine in school when it is needed.

Parents and the law schools have a job. They should take a firm position. The exhibitionists should be made to learn self-discipline.

This is good advice for faculty and administrators as well as students and parents.

The Air Force will test auto safety belts. It also should test the heads of drivers who forget to use them.

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LOS ANGELES (NEA)—The Republican governors' unhappiness that they are not in full command of their party—a condition openly voiced here at the National Governors Conference—has deeper roots than are being acknowledged.

The decision of the GOP Governors Association to meet twice yearly beginning next December reflects the immediate grumbling over the ineffectuality of this organization since it was given real life and visibility 19 months ago at Denver just after Barry Goldwater's defeat for the presidency.

Many of the Republican governors indicate they want the controlling role in the choosing of the party's next presidential candidate, the shaping of its platform and the steady offering of interim party positions on the major issues.

But talks among these governors and some of their key lieutenants suggest that merely shooting adrenalin into the feeble Governors Association will not turn the trick. What they need in their stable are more and better horses.

Their present number—17—is seen by several leaders as inadequate to cast commanding weight in Republican councils. When they last exerted decision influence, in the presidential nomination of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952, their company totaled 25. After his election they were 30 strong. They have not been so numerous since.

A few leaders here argue that numbers are not important so long as the party has governors—as it does now—in such big states as New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan. But others disagree.

The point of having healthy numbers is that any leadership provided by a nucleus of big-state governors can be quickly translated into an effective and possibly commanding party coalition.

tion simply by calling upon like-minded, problem-solving governors in states all around the map. Without those numbers, the chiefs may have too few Indians.

Yet the thinness of their ranks is not the sole root cause of Republican governors' present frustration and distress. The truth, quietly conceded by some, is that the ingredients of real leadership are lacking—and have been for some years.

When Republican governors did a job for Eisenhower in 1952, they had no association, no regular common meetings, no strategy of coalition. But they were led by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and his celebrated strategist, Herbert Brownell.

A tougher pair of convention delegate rustlers seldom has been seen on the Republican circuit. The one thing those 1952 governors did in concert—the approval at the Houston Governors Conference of a resolution supporting a crucial Eisenhower convention tactic—was engineered by Dewey and Brownell.

Moreover, they set up the situation that made the tactic possible at all. Today there is not a Dewey or a Brownell, or even a pale copy, in the pack. Five of the present 17 GOP governors are lame ducks who will be off the gubernatorial scene by January. Their interest in collaborative action is almost nil. Only two of the 17 spots are not up for grabs this November.

Those who are running this year are thinking about their individual campaign problems more than about their collective impact on the party. "Their minds just aren't on it," says an eastern governor.

The natural leader in terms of prominence is Gov. George Romney of Michigan. But he has two major handicaps. He is no master of political expertise and, as a top 1968 presidential contender, cannot exert any kind of strong hand without seeming to serve himself.

"So," asks an important governor's aide, "who is to be the initiator of action among these men? Who picks up the telephone and starts things moving?"

Rhode Island's Gov. John Chafee, whose letter to his colleagues (complaining of inaction) helped stir the current ferment, has gumption but small state status. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York did not repair damaged prestige by absenting himself from this conference.

Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio shows no interest. Attractive figures like John Love of Colorado and Daniel Evans of Washington simply do not have the necessary clout or expertise. The lack is big—and crucial.

Peace in Viet Nam Now Rests With Red China

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, JULY 11.—Peace in Viet Nam is nearer than most people think. What is said in the press and over the radio by both sides is naturally uncompromising, but more significant is the peace talk going on right now confidentially in several capitals of the world.

Although Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Great Britain will visit Moscow at the end of this week and not long afterwards will come to the United States to confer with President Johnson, the decision as to whether or not there will be peace in Viet Nam rests now with Red China.

Pressure for peace is growing. In the past week, Secretary of State Rusk had an opportunity to explain the American position in conferences at Tokyo with high officials of the Japanese government who are in close touch with Asian developments. Ambassador Goldberg has had an important talk with the Pope at Rome and the Italian government. Some of the things Mr. Goldberg said will undoubtedly be relayed to the communist side.

The most encouraging aspect of the whole world situation is that no one-man government is making the vital decisions today, as was the case when Kaiser Wilhelm and Adolf Hitler of Germany and Joseph Stalin of Russia used dictatorial powers in conducting their foreign policies. Even in Peking, as in Moscow, a committee-type Government now is in charge. The risk of a large-scale war in the back of the minds of those who rule the roost.

Agreement Never Easy

The making of an armistice or peace agreement is never easy to detect in advance. To be successful, the process has to be carried on in secret. The late Dwight Morrow, American ambassador to Mexico, once told this correspondent that, in a most vexatious dispute involving religious overtones, progress wasn't discernible until both sides agreed, in effect, that the controversy was "insoluble" for the time being. This tended to center attention on what the diplomats call a "modus Vivendi" or method of living with the problem by gradual adjustment.

Face Saving Involved

Face-saving, of course, is involved in what is said openly. Thus, the Soviets have joined the Red Chinese in demanding publicly that American forces be withdrawn from Viet Nam as a precondition either to negotiations or any armistice agreement, and in declaring that a cessation of bombing isn't enough. This, however, is superficial stuff designed for public consumption. The Soviet Union, like its ally Red China, wants peace in Viet Nam because the war there isn't getting anybody anywhere. It is an enormous expense and could delay concentration on internal problems which, if not given first attention, might suddenly bring a new committee to head up the government in Moscow or Peking or both.

Skillful negotiations from the neutral countries must cautiously explore what would "save face" for the Communists and at the same time avoid any humiliating position for the United States, which cannot agree to stop the fighting unless certain assurances are forthcoming.

The eventual formula adopted probably will resemble the one that ended the war in Korea. A stalemate from which the Communists derived satisfaction in avoiding the loss of North Korea, while the United Nations forces got their way in moving the aggressor back across the 38th Parallel.

Only One Objective

The United States has only one objective in Vietnam — to see the aggressor moved back into North Vietnam and thereby give the South Vietnamese a chance to set up their own government. It will be made clear that, if American troops are withdrawn and the pact is broken thereafter, the United States would not hesitate to engage in another military expedition to enforce the terms of any armistice agreement.

Two things have stood in the way of peace. One is the mistaken belief in both Moscow and Peking that the United States would withdraw and accept a humiliating defeat — a policy hinted at through utterances by certain senators and representatives and other spokesmen of the minority here. The other is the lack of a decisive offensive such as the display of air power around Hanoi and Haiphong. The delay until recently seemed to be regarded by the Communists as a sign of timidity.

The change, however, since the U. S. air mission was initiated has impressed diplomats everywhere with a belief that a turning point is at hand. It looks now as if the ingredients of a face-saving peace negotiation for both sides have at last been put into usable form.

Editor, The Freeman
I am taking a few minutes to write as a businessman and private citizen.

The practice of some area stores in staying open on national holidays as Memorial Day, Fourth of July, and Labor Day is most disgusting.

Is there no moral character in these companies? Do they need the volume of business done on as sacred a day as Memorial day? Make a mockery of the rest of the traditional holidays is a shameful way to conduct business.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—How many people have jobs—and who has them—plays an increasingly important role in setting both business and government policies. And the trend this summer will do much to solve many of today's puzzles.

The monthly figures on how many people have jobs and what percentage of the labor force says it can't find jobs has been a chief reason in recent years first for making credit tight. The idea was this: easy credit would help the economy expand and make jobs for the disturbingly high number that didn't have them; and then when the economy started to overheat, tight money would help ward off a bust that would cost many jobs.

Reasoning Given

The large number of people out of work in 1963 and 1964 (the jobless rate of the monthly statistics) was the prime talking point for cutting taxes. And the record number now employed and spending lots of money is one reason for talking about raising taxes. The reasoning: a tax cut would give consumers and business more to spend and thus make jobs; and now the idea is that the recent exuberant spending and speculation may have to be curbed by raising taxes again.

The jobless rate plays a part in purely business policy decisions. As one gauge of economic health, the employment statistic—and particularly the trend it is taking—can help determine whether firms play things close to the vest or go all out for expansion.

So important has the unemployment statistic become in recent years in economic and political thinking that it is closely associated with many of the Great Society programs, especially those with the accent on helping people who find it hardest to get jobs and hold them.

As the jobless rate has dropped in the last year, the gauge of prosperity has risen. This is the Gross National Product, or total output of goods and services. The two curves appear to react on each other. The more people there are at work and spending their wages, the greater the dollar volume of the economy. And as the GNP rises, as prosperity spreads, so does the opportunity for gainful employment.

But it isn't quite that simple or automatic. Booming prosperity and lots of jobs also can bring problems. And that's what is worrying business and government leaders now.

The low jobless rate can mean shortages in some skilled labor fields. The appetite of labor for higher wages grows fast when the scarcity is the supply of labor rather than the number of jobs. And big wage boosts can feed inflation.

Conscience Fund Richer by $271

ALBANY — The state "conscience fund" recently received $271.13 from anonymous taxpayers, it was announced today by State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy.

Amounts of the money sent in ranged from $140 in $20 bills to two quarters and one nickel—from Watertown and Chenango Bridge, respectively.

A $50 bill was accompanied by the following note: "Upon reviewing the individual records of an estate totalling a low five-figure amount which I was the executor of a number of years ago, I came to the conclusion that one asset was understated in the tax accounting. Therefore I believe the attached $50 bill will more than make up for the additional New York State estate tax which should have been paid plus some for interest."

Other "conscience fund" payments were wrapped in plain paper, accompanied by a blank IT-201 personal income tax reporting form and taped to the inside of an empty postage stamp book.

These anonymous "conscience fund" payments are deposited in the State General Fund.

Among the projects is heating and electric work to rehabilitate the heating system in the Kingston resident engineer's headquarters District 8 of the Department of Public Works.

Another is electric work for replacement of service to electric kilns in the Fine Arts Building at State University of New York College of New Paltz.

Relate Plight of Girl, 6; Came Here to Cure Blindness

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A chubby girl of 6 leaves the United States today to return to her home on the edge of the Colombian jungle.

She probably will never sleep in a bed again, eat an ice cream, ride in an automobile, or enjoy a warm bath. She also may never laugh again. She is going blind and there is no cure.

Rarely Smiled

Gladeita Mosquera didn't know how to laugh — she rarely even smiled — when she was brought to Miami two weeks ago.

Now she must return to Bogota and her benefactors must tell some of the most powerful people in Colombia, people who moved bureaucratic mountains to make the trip possible, that it failed.

They also must tell Gladeita's parents, whose faith in the United States is boundless, and then explain that Gladeita's sister, 10 months, also probably never will see, because the trouble is hereditary. They also hope to tactfully suggest that many other children also may be doomed to blindness.

"It's the saddest trip of my life," said Ian Glass, whose wife and five children gave Gladeita a home while a battery of specialists searched for a cure. "It may also be the most difficult. These are very simple people. They have great faith in the United States."

"I'm not sure what will be said or how we will say it," Glass said.

Glass, Sunday editor of the Miami News, and Terry Johnson King, a writer, met Gladeita at the village of Los Micos after a safari up the Guaviare River last winter.

"We noticed her set little mouth, old beyond her years, and her unseeing eyes," said Mrs. King.

"She squatted timidly in the corner of her board hut. Her mother, a Spanish-Indian woman named Lilia, told me, 'When there is light it hurts her eyes and she can see nothing. When it is dark she distinguishes a few objects. But last year a doctor-hunter said it might be possible to cure her in the United States. Here is his name. I think he will send for her.'"

"I wondered at her naive faith."

When Mrs. King returned to Miami she checked with the doctor and he said the girl might be cured but an examination in a hospital here would be necessary. So Mrs. King flew back to Bogota, enlisted the help of the director of tourism, the head of the Zona Franca (the free zone of imports) and an influential retired major general in the air force.

Red Tape Cleared

Within hours the bureaucratic red tape of passports and transportation was cleared away. A colonel flew her to Los Micos in a bomber. The national air line furnished the fares to United States and back. Colombian newspapers told of the Americans coming to the rescue of a poor Indian girl from the jungle.

Glass met Gladeita at the airport and took her in. "At first she wouldn't sleep in the bed, but slept beside it," Glass said. "Now she likes it." She also likes "cookie," "sandwich-o," and "agua y sucre," by which she means anything sweet to drink. Her prized possessions are a red toy rabbit she insists is a dog and a doll with blonde hair that she has named Pretty Patricia.

But doctors say she won't be able to see Pretty Patricia much longer. Her retina is slowly degenerating and there is nothing medical science can do.

DETERIORATION: SOCIAL AND FINANCIAL

For a great variety of reasons, misfortune is the lot of millions of Americans. Lack of skills, discrimination and automation are three of the basic causes.

Misfortune costs money and those who are fortunate (like myself) must pay the bill. The three-year lease on my Riverside Drive, New York City, apartment expires on October 1, 1966. And I fully expect to get a substantial boost in my rent within about ten weeks.

As of March, 1966, there are more than 517,478 on relief in this great city. And, on that date, 16,724 persons ran this gigantic operation.

For 1964, the New York City costs of running the Welfare Department came to $549,690,072. In 1963, the cost was $475,477,000 and it is probable that the 1965 bill was around $600 millions. Costs today are soaring and the end is not in sight.

The deterioration of the social life of New York City has its counterpart in the deterioration of the buying power of the dollar. In ten years about 800,000 middle- and upper class persons have moved to the suburbs and 800,000 lower-class people have taken their places.

Tens of thousands of untrained, unskilled men and women from the South and from Puerto Rico have moved to New York City. And, going on relief soon after their arrival, they have thrown a gigantic social and financial burden on the City.

Conditions in this city are somewhat similar to those in other urban centers in America. In a recent article, I pointed out that hundreds of Registered Nurses employed by the City of New York to care for the sick, the elderly and the indigent, were demanding higher salaries. They received them and this minor matter is only a small part of the city's fiscal problems.

The subways and the bus lines are run by the City. The yearly deficits run into millions of dollars. One can ride 25 miles on the subway for 15 cents or ten miles on a comfortable Riverside Drive or Fifth Avenue bus for 15 cents. The City subsidizes every subway and bus for 15 cents. The city subsidizes

Man, 60, Loses Life in Albany Apartment Fire

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — John Sungelo, 60, perished early today when fire swept his apartment here.

The cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

The brothers lived on the top floor of a home at 141 Second St.

Charge Bank Robbery

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP) — Police have charged Paul Cooper, 36, as the man who robbed a bank of $661 and then made his getaway in a bus he caught in front of the bank.

every subway and bus traveler. And when higher real estate taxes are suggested, there is a hue and cry against such action since higher rents would have to be paid.

Thus, the dollar is getting a terrific jolting from many directions. And in such an environment, it is vitally important that every investor formulate an adequate policy in managing his money.

Interest rates are high. Government and corporate bonds are selling to yield five per cent and more. Every person who can ascertain what his fixed-dollar requirements will be five years ahead might well buy some good bonds or deposit dollars in savings institutions.

Investors looking for solid economic growth and a measure of inflation protection should purchase the common stocks of American corporations if earnings and dividends are satisfactory.

Present trends will continue into the indefinite future. The dollar will lose some of its purchasing power. And, as it does, millions of investors with billions of dollars will buy sound common stocks.

Trainmen Return To D&H Posts, Await Hearing

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Delaware & Hudson Railroad trains were back in service today, while railroad and union officials awaited a court hearing Friday on an anti-strike injunction.

Passenger and freight schedules returned to normal Sunday after officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen had ordered 200 striking workers back to their jobs.

The trainmen returned to work Saturday night, ending a one-day strike, in the wake of a restraining order issued in federal court here against the walkout.

The union called the strike to protest repeal of major portions of the state's full-crew law. Repeal enabled the railroads to dispense with some trainmen's jobs. The union accused the D&H of "arbitrarily" removing workers.

A D&H spokesman called the walkout "illegal" and said it violated an agreement signed by the union last year.

Never Too Late

OCALA, Fla. (AP) — Mat Robinson, 94, won a divorce—with the argument that his wife took care of the dog but didn't take care of him.

Robinson said that about 10 years ago his wife, Charity, 66, set up separate housekeeping in his house at Ocala, Fla., although he paid the bills.

He said she cooked meals for the dog but not for him.

Circuit Court Judge D.R. Smith said Mrs. Robinson was guilty of "obstinate and continuous desertion" and gave her two weeks to leave the house. They had been married 16 years.

Booze Smugglers Cause Headaches For Ohio Forces

By STEPHEN H. MILLER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A small liquor store in the middle of Lake Erie is causing headaches among Ohio's antimuggling forces.

The store is just across the border on Ontario's Pelee Island, 15 miles from the Ohio mainland.

Agents of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control are convinced that Pelee is a major source of Canadian booze seeping illegally through the walls of the state liquor monopoly.

Brig. Gen. Jack J. G. Sprague, head of Ontario's Liquor Control Board, denies it. His records are secret, but he says Pelee's business volume is one of the lowest in Canada.

Under Ohio law, private citizens can import only one quart of any alcoholic beverage, and the state levies a 28 per cent markup on that quart. Larger amounts of liquor must be bought from state stores or warehouses.

A fifth of scotch costs about $2 less in Canada, and if a gallon of the stuff can be sneaked into Ohio, it escapes not only the state markup but $10.50 in federal duty.

Donald D. Cook, Ohio's liquor control director, cites newspaper estimates that $50 million in liquor is smuggled across the lake each year, but he says the

Some Go Commercial

Cook, Moon and Ralph Krieger, the department's top enforcement agent in the Cleveland area, think some smugglers have gone commercial.

"You figure it out," says Krieger. "What does a permit holder base his income tax return on? His wholesale purchases from the state. If he uses an illegal supplier, he can make money at almost any price."

The U.S. Coast Guard is the only organization equipped to take on the smuggling problem. "It's not a very important concern to the Coast Guard," says Lt. Cmdr. John Packard, district chief of intelligence and enforcement.

If Ohio liquor agents ever catch up with the smugglers, there may be some red faces along the shore. One Cleveland coast guardsman says he got a few bottles from Pelee not long ago, and adds, "You know, I pick up a quart every time I go over there."

Kiwanis Honor Walgreen Stores

Walgreen Drug Stores, the nation's largest drug chain and one of the country's top 10 retailers of books and magazines, was recently honored by Kiwanis International at its 51st Annual Convention in Portland, Oregon, with a special plaque award commending Walgreen's policy of refusing to sell objectionable literature.

Walgreen's local store is located in the Kingston Shopping Plaza.

Presented by Kiwanis President Edward C. Keefe, the plaque was accepted "with great pride" by Thomas J. Barton, Walgreen Co. secretary, on behalf of C. R. Walgreen, Jr., R.Ph., the firm's chairman of the board, who established its clean policy many years ago.

Stated Walgreen: "Long convinced that healthy minds help build the bulwarks of our American way of life, we have been proud to maintain our policy and will do everything we can to continue to merit this commendation from Kiwanis International."

C. R. Walgreen Jr.'s code on clean wholesome literature is followed through in the firm's stores by C. W. Mulaney, Walgreen vice-president. He insists that the firm's book and magazine suppliers work closely with Walgreens' 50 stores coast to coast.

Each supplier is furnished a list of titles which Walgreens will not sell. Even if one should slip through, it's the responsibility of the Walgreen Store manager to remove it. "Walgreens policy is to offer only clean, quality merchandise in our stores," he said, "and that includes books and magazines with no exceptions."

When George Washington died he owned 70,000 acres in Virginia plus 40,000 acres in other places.

Wife Is Charged In Mate's Death After Argument

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A 38-year-old woman, who told police she wrestled with her husband for possession of a revolver during a fight, faces a charge of first-degree manslaughter in his death.

Police accused Mrs. Mae L. Rogers of Buffalo of fatally shooting her husband, James, Saturday in the neck.

Police said Mrs. Rogers told them that her husband threatened her with the .38-caliber revolver during a domestic quarrel in their apartment. The two wrestled for the gun and it discharged, wounding Rogers, she said.

Mrs. Rogers appeared before Judge William G. Heffron of City Court who set bail at $10,000.

Dear Abby . . .

Teachers' Advice May Be the Answer

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My eleven-year-old daughter picks the most peculiar friends. Her newest chum worries me. She came over yesterday with a stocking cap (in JULY!) which she said she couldn't take off because the doctor had found some "crawlies" in her head and he had shaved all her hair off. (I do believe the child had lice, don't you?)

Now this little girl is sweet and nice as she can be. She even got my daughter interested in the Bible, which I think is fine, but I shudder to think that my daughter may catch lice from her. How contagious is lice, or whatever it is that she had? Should I worry?

DEAR WORRIED: The child with the "crawlies" (or whatever it was) has apparently seen a doctor, so whatever she had is now under control. I wouldn't worry.

DEAR ABBY: I took my freshman year over again and I am still a freshman. In other words, I failed everything again. I admit I fooled around the first time, but I really tried to make it this time, but the work was too hard for me. My parents don't believe me. They think I let them down, but I really tried my best.

I would like to quit school and go to a trade school, but my father says I have to graduate from high school if it takes me 10 years. What can I do?

DEAR ASHAMED: Enlist the help of your teachers. They will know if you really did your best or fooled around. If you worked up to your capacity and failed, you have nothing to be ashamed of. And I agree, trade school might be the answer.

ASHAMED

Man Takes Life, Accused in Death Of Estranged Mate

LYONS, N.Y. (AP) — Roger J. Schrader, accused by police of shooting his estranged wife to death as she returned to her parents' home from church, hanged himself with a belt Sunday in the Wayne County Jail, sheriff's deputies say.

Schrader, 39, of Red Creek, was awaiting trial on a charge of first-degree murder in the death April 21 of his wife, Elizabeth, also 39, the mother of four. She had been living at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cummings, in Red Creek, for about two weeks, police said.

Deputies said prisoners are checked in their cells each hour and that Schrader's death occurred between 5 a.m. and 6 a.m.

He was a self-employed welder.

The Schraders lived on South Street. The Cummings home is on Wolcott Street in Red Creek, southwest of Oswego.

Best Performance Not Book Bid

By JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

You are going to get rather tired with today's South hand because you are going to see it repeated for several days more.

The reason is that when your partner opens the bidding with one of any suit but spades you are in the "Hanged if you do, hanged if you don't" position.

If you bid you can get into trouble. If you pass you can get into trouble. It is a "book" pass but any winning player is going to respond one spade.

He knows that he is asking for trouble by bidding but he figures that he is asking for worse trouble if he passes and he also knows that if by some lucky chance his partner can raise spades everything may come up roses as a result of his spade bid.

The roses bloom today. He responds one spade and North raises to four spades. West opens the king of hearts. South wins with dummy's ace and plays ace and king of spades.

Then he takes the diamond finesse which loses to East's king. If East and West don't grab a club trick and a heart trick immediately, South will make an overtrick. Nothing will keep him from making his game.

If South passes at one diamond West may decide to bid a heart. Or he may look at that singleton spade and decide to let North struggle at one diamond. If he passes to one diamond, North will probably make about two odd.

If West reopens with one heart anything may happen. North and South may still find their spade fit and play at four spades. It is more likely that East and West may buy the contract at some number of hearts.

If they buy it at two, three or four they will make their contract. If they go to five against a four-spade bid they will only be down one trick.

Recent Crash Claims Life of Woman, 45

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—An automobile accident on the State Thruway near Canandaigua last Wednesday claimed the life Sunday of Mrs. Concetta Chiappetta, 45, of Rochester.

State Police said the automobile in which she was riding overturned several times after leaving the superhighway.

She died in Strong Memorial Hospital here.

Mrs. Chiappetta lived at 1128 Joseph Ave.

Today in History

Today is Monday, July 11, the 192nd day of 1966. There are 173 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1804, two revolutionary war leaders, Aaron Burr and Alexander Hamilton, met in a pistol duel in Weehawken, N.J. Two shots were fired and Hamilton fell, mortally wounded.

On this date:

In 1767, our sixth president, John Quincy Adams, was born.

In 1814 a British fleet captured the town of Eastport, Maine.

In 1937, American composer George Gershwin died.

In 1952, General Dwight D. Eisenhower was nominated for president on the first ballot at the Republican National Convention in Chicago.

Ten years ago—The French government approved the plan for Euratom—an atomic energy commission composed of representatives of the six Common Market nations.

Five years ago—A United Air Lines DC8 jetliner careened off the runway at Denver airport, hit a truck and caught fire. Seventeen persons aboard the plane and a man in the truck died.

One year ago — President Johnson issued a report on the effect of the 1964 civil rights act during its first year. He said the letter of the law had been complied with, but added: "The next step is to achieve compliance in spirit."

Face Major

Later in the week, if time permits, the Senate is expected to renew a lively internal scrap on a proposal to add members of the Foreign Relations Committee to the special watchdog committee supervising the Central Intelligence Agency. Present members of the watchdog committee, now drawn from the Armed Services and Appropriations committees, oppose enlargement.

Recent State Law Aired by Olive Board; No Action

Assessment reductions for senior citizens and youth committee reports were considered by the Olive Town Board at its July meeting.

Bills from general funds in the amount of $9,379.64, and the highway funds, in the amount of $4,170.74, were approved.

The recent law passed by the state relative to the 50 per cent reduction on real property assessment for those residents 65 years of age or over, and whose income is $3,000 or less per year, was brought up for discussion and tabled, so that the legal aspects may be studied and the necessary resolution be prepared for adoption by the town board.

It was suggested by Councilman Herbert Wells that a memorandum by the town clerk be directed to the Ontario School District Board advising them of the action proposed locally, that they may also take favorable steps to accomplish the purpose and fulfillment of this law.

A letter was received by the town board from contractor Roy Crowell on the completion and 90-day guarantee of the swimming pool.

To Order Truck
Road Supervisor Marcell Maier was empowered to place an order for a new Oskosh, heavy duty truck, to be furnished by the Syracuse Truck Sales.

The town dump will remain open until 8 p. m. of Thursdays only, to allow further use of same by residents.

The town board approved the attendance of the following:
Town Clerk, and Road Supervisor for a three day conference to be held at Ithaca College, also Justice Frank Carle and Attorney John Lynch for a one-day regional conference on New Trends in Local Government and Community Development being conducted by the New York State Office for Local Government at the Hotel Thayer at West Point.

The town board accepted the rules, regulations and fees relative to the operation of the swimming pool, set up by the Youth Committee.

Near Cape Hatteras
PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — The Coast Guard said a Liberty ship trying to make port at Norfolk, Va., for repairs to a leak sank early today 23 miles south-southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C.

The 32-man crew had abandoned ship shortly before it sank at 1.10 a. m. The crew was picked up from lifeboats by the tanker Hess petrol and were to be transferred today to a Coast Guard vessel off Cape Henry, Va.

The Italian ship Paestum, built in 1944 as the Liberty ship Samspeid, later named the Cape York, was loaded with 9,496 tons of powdered phosphate. She was headed from Boca Grande, Fla., to Italy.

Heinz Kuehn, 45-year-old journalist turned politician, headed the Socialist ticket but Brandt, 52, was generally credited for the victory because of his oratory and tireless campaigning.

Brandt had been written off as a political has-been on the national scene following his second defeat as candidate for chancellor last year. Observers now predicted that he would head the Socialist ticket again in the 1969 federal elections.

Cars and Bus Crash, Motorists Cited

Two motorists were cited by Ellenville State Police after a three-car collision involving a bus, which occurred at 1 p. m. Sunday on Route 209 at the intersection of a town road about a quarter of a mile south of Kerhonkson.

Trooper Richard Pinnow said the vehicles were driven by Joseph Leeb, 61, Paramus, N. J., Robert J. Brown, 33, of Carlstadt, N. J., and Donald J. Campbell, 26, Kerhonkson. Brown was summoned by troopers on charges of driving without a license and following too close, and Campbell was cited for reducing speed without warning.

Both summonses are returnable at a later date before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, Town of Wawarsing.

Leeb was stopped at the time of the mishap.

Injured were Fran Leeb, 57, Paramus, whiplash of the neck and Wilbur Edwards, 46, Livingston Manor, a passenger in the Campbell car. He suffered contusions of the head.

City Escapes
reported and, on the State Thruway, a chartered bus was overturned.

While summertime temperatures reached the 80s and 90s throughout New York State, the storms hit widespread areas, including Buffalo, Herkimer, Hudson and Troy.

The storm casualty was Meyer Shapiro, 82, of Tonawanda, who died of an apparent heart attack while struggling to carry picnic chairs to cover at Elliott Creek Park, Tonawanda.

At the same time, 27 persons were injured in nearby Depew when the chartered bus overturned in high winds. The bus was carrying sightseers home to New York City from an excursion to Niagara Falls.

In other storm reports:
—At Rochester, winds up to 40 miles an hour were reported to range up to golf ball size.

—At Herkimer, rain and wind temporarily knocked out both electrical power and telephone switched to standby diesel generators to maintain power.

—At Buffalo, the Weather Bureau said it recorded winds up to 70 miles an hour, and the two-story faculty house of Cardinal O'Hara High School in suburban Tonawanda lost its roof in the gusts.

Troy Hit Hard
—At Troy, about 3,000 homes in a belt running from Troy east and north to Hoosick Falls lost power for about an hour.

—At Hudson, power lines went down, leaving about 12,000 city residents without electricity.

Meanwhile, hail damaged vegetable crops in Eden, south of Buffalo, and in Mohawk, near Herkimer, a cloudburst flooded part of Route 5 for a brief time.

Tornadoes roared through five Midwestern states Sunday night and early today, and other violent weather lashed sections of the nation from Idaho to New England.

No deaths or injuries were reported, but one twister demolished a Wadena, Minn., home and another flipped over two parked airplanes at La Crosse, Wis.

Drive-In Screen Collapses
A number of funnels were sighted in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area and at least one touched down near Forest Lake. A tornado also touched down near Rochester some 75 miles southeast of the Twin Cities. Damage by Minnesota twisters included a collapsed drive-in theater screen, downed power lines and shattered windows.

The Minneapolis temperature dropped from 92 to 70 in 15 minutes during the storms Sunday night.

The storms then knifed into Wisconsin, overturning two airplanes at the La Crosse airport along the Mississippi River. A funnel was sighted in nearby Harpers Ferry, Iowa; high winds cut power in Madison, Wis., the state capital, 100 miles southeast of La Crosse, and winds of 40 miles an hour were reported in nearby Tama.

Move Into Illinois
Twisters slammed into Illinois early this morning, kicking up 80-mile winds. A tornado ripped the roof from a building in McHenry, northwest of Chicago, where there was also a report of a tornado driving a tree through a house.

Funnel were sighted in the Chicago area: 60 miles south near Kankakee; near Peoria in the center of the state, and in the northwest corner near Duquoin, Iowa.

As the morning wore on, police reported a tornado at Saugatuck, Mich., 30 miles southwest of Grand Rapids.

Earlier, thunderstorms had raked central Kentucky's bluegrass area. Spurred by winds of 42 miles an hour the storms damaged buildings and ripped down power lines and tree limbs in Lexington, Richmond and Winchester. Damage also was reported in Louisville.

Severe thunderstorms hit New England from Newport, Vt., to Windsor Locks, Conn., with most damage occurring in western Massachusetts. An unoccupied home in Holyoke, Mass., was destroyed by lightning-caused fire. Lightning also set fire to the 150-foot steeple of the Haydensville, Mass., Congregational church.

A 22-minute cloudburst ruined crops and tore down power lines in Idaho's northern Panhandle. Officials closed U.S. 12 near Greer when tons of mud and rocks cascaded across the road. Hail was piled eight inches deep in places.

Scatter Negroes, Jeering Whites From Miss. Jail

GRENADA, Miss. (AP) — Steel-helmeted highway patrolmen, wielding billy clubs and gun butts, drove off some 300 Negroes demonstrated outside the Grenada County Jail, as sheriff's deputies scattered 100 jeering whites.

But civil rights leaders planned new demonstrations today — a swim-in and a read-in — in their test of public accommodations in this town of 7,914, halfway between Jackson — the Mississippi capital — and Memphis, Tenn.

The trials of some of the 43 civil rights workers jailed for staging a sitdown demonstration on a Grenada street come up today in city court.

Many of the Negroes dispersed Sunday from the jail area had come on a sympathy march for the 43.

Also scheduled today was a preliminary hearing for two white men arrested after shots struck near a federal official and two others as they were about to go into a Negro church late Saturday night.

3 Copters
dition to the fuel dump near Dien Bien Phu, an oil storage area 32 miles northwest of Vinh was hit in the continuing American effort to cripple North Vietnam's motor transport. Other targets included bridges, barges, roads and trucks, most of them near the coast of the southern panhandle.

Claim 20 Supply Trucks
The Navy said its planes destroyed or damaged 20 supply trucks, most of them near Thanh Hoa.

The bombing of North Vietnamese fuel supplies began in mid-June, and 15 smaller dumps were hit by U.S. planes. It attacked the major depots on the edges of Hanoi and Haiphong June 29. In the two weeks since, Air Force and Navy planes have struck at fuel installations every day except on July 2 and have bombed at least 24 of them, including one return to the Haiphong depot.

An A4 Skyhawk from the carrier Constellation went down on an armed reconnaissance mission before dawn near Vinh. The pilot was listed as missing. An airplane in an accompanying mission when there was a large explosion when the Skyhawk went down.

Plane Downed, Crew Rescued
Communist ground fire knocked down an Air Force F4C Phantom over North Viet Nam Sunday, but the crewmen were rescued. Capt. Thomas P. Weeks Jr., 33, of Moundville, Ala., and Frank J. Lennon, 35, of Pawtucket, R.I., bailed out a half mile off shore and were picked up within 20 minutes by an Air Force flying boat.

Communist shore fire came within 10 to 20 feet of the rescue plane, said its commander, Maj. Jesse J. Anderson, 40, of Shalimar, Fla.

Gum-based B52s hit two targets in South Viet Nam's central highland near Pleiku 210 miles northwest of Saigon today: Communist withdrawal routes leading to Cambodia, and bunkers and fortifications in the Ia Drang Valley just north of the scene of the first big fight between U.S. and North Vietnamese forces last November.

Fly 640 Sorties
U.S. and Vietnamese pilots flew 640 sorties in the South Sunday. American airmen, in 432 sorties, claimed possible kills of 32 Viet Cong, destroying or damaging more than 500 enemy huts and fortifications and sinking 4 sampans.

In scattered clashes in the northern provinces, the U.S. Marines reported killing 13 Viet Cong Sunday.

In addition to the 238 Viet Cong reported killed in the battle near the Cambodian frontier, eight were captured by the American infantrymen. The action was part of Operation El Paso, which began June 2. A spokesman said that a total of 854 Viet Cong had been killed, 37 captured and 188 weapons seized so far.

U.S. military men declined to speculate whether the 2,000-man enemy force had taken refuge in Cambodia. The guerrillas offered only light resistance Sunday after the failure of their ambush of a U.S. armored column Saturday.

Oil Raids Stir
like this war is going to go on for a very long time.

Hold to Hard Line
For the moment, Ball said, the North Vietnamese leaders "seem to be taking the same hard line they did before."

In that connection the undersecretary said the recent reports by himself and by President Johnson on signs of some growing discouragement in North Viet Nam have been greeted with more exuberance than they deserved.

There is evidence of some war weariness around Hanoi, Ball said, but he added he had been very careful to point out the difference between that and a political decision to come to a settlement.

Hold Kidney Suspects
State Police BCI officers this afternoon were questioning a man and a woman in connection with an alleged kidnapping, according to Sergeant William Cameron of Highland. Alarms had been sent out for a Plattkill man and at 1 p. m. he was under questioning by senior BCI investigator Michael Lisman. No further details were available at Freeman prestime.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market held a small advance in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Selective demand for blue chips kept the averages a bit ahead but considerable caution prevailed amid reports that interest rates had risen to the highest levels of a generation in some sections of the money market.

Nevertheless, there was confidence on the increasing flow of reports for the second quarter and increasing signs that financial institutions were nibbling at high quality issues for their portfolios.

Airlines were ragged as the airline strike continued.

Selective gains perked up tobacco stocks. All the leading motor stocks were a little higher.

Rails and utilities showed little change on balance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 4 at 324.2 with industrials up 7, rails unchanged and utilities up 2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.6 at 896.60.

Tomb in Capitol
A tomb beneath the rotunda of the U.S. Capitol was built for the express purpose of holding the remains of George Washington and his wife. The tomb was authorized by Congress in 1799 to commemorate the great events of Washington's military and political life.

Oedipus was the unfortunate king of Greek mythology who unknowingly killed his father and married his mother.

Gives Glum

Joint sessions had been held before the strike began.

Wages Major Issue
Wages remain the major issue. The union is seeking increases of about 53 cents an hour over three years. The airlines have offered a three-year contract with a 30-cent raise.

A presidential emergency board recommended increases of 44 to 48 cents an hour. Top-rated mechanics now receive $3.52 an hour with pay ranging down to $2.25 for janitors.

Other unsettled national issues include vacations, holidays, health and welfare plans, pensions, overtime and hours.

The strike against the five airlines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United — has paralyzed much of the nation's air commerce. Normally, the five carriers handle 60 per cent of the domestic industry's business.

Others Add Flights
Nonstruck airlines added extra flights after the Civil Aeronautics Board authorized emergency steps to meet the gap caused by the walkout. But the union moved to block the truck carriers from leasing planes to operating lines.

Union Vice President Joseph W. Ramsey said union members would not service the rented craft. The AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union, which represents mechanics on other airlines as well as other workers on the truck lines, said it was cooperating with the machinists.

Meanwhile, members of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, who do office work and sell tickets, went on strike against Northwest Airlines because, the union president said, the company had tried to get them to assume some of the duties of machinist union members.

Northwest said it has not required members of the clerks union "to do anything behind their normal duties."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Investment Advisor & Analyst

Reader Advised to Sell To Enlarge Cash Reserves

Q "I am single, in my early forties, and my concern is my livelihood after age 65. At that time I would receive about $125 a month pension plus Social Security. I have $10,000 insurance fully payable at age 65 and $1,000 in savings. I own General Motors, Revlon and Standard of New Jersey. I will soon receive $500 and would like to invest this money for growth. I thought about Sears, Roebuck and am considering selling Revlon at a slight loss. What would you advise?" R.A.

A I should first like to commend you on your foresightedness. I like all the stocks you own but I do not feel you have a sufficient reserve in savings to meet future contingencies. Revlon is an excellent stock which has shown good growth, but from a price standpoint has really got nowhere for the past 2 1/2 years. I would sell this stock solely to build up your cash reserves.

Sears, Roebuck has been depressed in price like so many blue chips in a rather speculative market. I think you might do very well with your $500 in this issue.

Q "I have held the following convertible debentures for some years. Should I continue to hold or convert them into common stock? They are: Armour 4 1/2%; Pan American 4 1/2%; and Pan American 4 1/2%." D.G.

A You are a very fortunate man. Armour 4 1/2% at present sell well below their conversion value, but I would hold them. They have been above this value both in 1965 and 1966. The yield is satisfactory and the call on the stock does not expire until 1983.

You really struck it rich with your Pan Am issues, now quoted around 504 and 260 respectively. These both sell about at the conversion value and I would hold them. They will move with the common, which I believe is headed higher. On any sharp rally, I would take profits on at least half of these two issues.

Two More
It was necessary to force doors in gaining entrance.

Downtown Landmark
The four-story, brick office building, is a downtown landmark, and once housed facilities for the Cornell Steamboat and the former Ulster & Delaware Railroad, along with others. The blaze left heat and smoke damage on the second floors.

Units from Central and Wilton stations and several volunteer units were mobilized by the alarm with Lt. Julius Bucholtz and Capt. Harry L. Sills in charge.

Set In Two Locations
A call at 6:38 a. m. today was for the fire at 11 Hasbrouck Avenue, which firemen said had been set in two locations. A front door was forced in gaining entrance, and the flames were checked before they spread in the building. Firemen were about to return from that when the other fire, also said to be incendiary, was discovered in an overstuffed chair on the first floor of a three-story vacant house at 42 Mill Street. It was checked before damage spread. Deputy Southard and Capt. Sills were in charge.

Fires of suspected incendiary origin have been reported, to date, this year in various areas of the city, three of them recently in uptown areas. Most of the others, however, have been in downtown areas, several of them in vacant houses owned by the Urban Renewal Agency.

Chief James M. Brett reported 35 fires of apparent incendiary origin in 1965.

South Africa Groups Differ On Importance of RFK Visit

By DAVID J. PAINE

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is on the "not wanted" list of some of South Africa's most important and influential men.

They are members of the South Africa Foundation, which has as its aim the often difficult task of improving this country's image abroad.

Invited to Return

The New York Democrat said after a dinner with the organization here in June that it had invited him to return for another look at South Africa and that he had accepted. The foundation, after a period of uneasy silence, denied it had issued an invitation.

In a statement the foundation said it had originally suggested to Kennedy that he should return for a longer visit and that if he did so it would try to help him get a balanced picture of the country.

Students Welcome

Kennedy's tour here was punctuated with appeals that South Africa's color problem — 3.4 million ruling whites and 14.4 million nonwhites — be tackled on a humanitarian basis.

Liberal-think circles throughout the country, including the students who invited him here, gave him a tumultuous reception.

But some of the foundation members felt that in his meeting with them, Kennedy had made no real attempt to discuss South Africa's racial problems fairly.

"He tossed loaded questions at us and wanted to know if there were two gods — a white god and a black god," complained one.

Refuses Cabinet Talks

The government viewed his visit coldly and refused his request to meet cabinet ministers.

When Kennedy announced the foundation had asked him to return, there were angry outbursts from the pro-government press.

Die Transvaler, headed by Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd, warned the foundation to disband if it invited Kennedy back to South Africa. "One circus performance is enough," it snapped.

Another pro-government newspaper with sources of information close to the cabinet said it was unlikely Kennedy would be granted a visa if he applied again.

Denies Any Influence

The foundation director, Louis Gerber denied that his organization had been influenced by the government in issuing the statement saying no invitation had been extended to Kennedy.

He pointed to the original offer of help to Kennedy and added: "If Sen. Kennedy were to come back here next year I believe the foundation would do its best to see he got a balanced picture of South Africa, if that was what he wanted."

The foundation was formed in early 1964. Gerber says moves for its formation were started in the late 1950s when an international campaign against South Africa was reaching its height and "our shares were low all over the world."

A recent addition to their number was golfer Gary Player, whom Gerber describes him as "one of our best ambassadors abroad."

"We do not try to justify the policies of our government, because we are above party politics, but we often find ourselves publicizing the work of the government because it happens to be among the achievements of the country," Gerber says.

Raid Fight from Air

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Just as a Tuscola County cock-fight was getting good, a plane swooped down and its loudspeaker blared at the shouting fans:

"You're all under arrest."

It didn't help for the rooster-fight fans to run, police said. Troopers dressed in camouflage uniforms had infiltrated the wooded area 30 miles east of Saginaw several hours before the fight fans arrived.

After Mayville Justice of the Peace George Foster fined each of the men $26 for loitering at an illegal event, police were faced with the problem of what to do with 109 roosters confiscated in the raid.

ADDED TO ELICOFON COLLECTION—The man who recently discovered two Durer portraits, valued at $1,000,000, which had all unknowingly hung in his collection since 1946, has made another art collecting jaunt into Woodstock and added the work of Daniela Passal to his growing collection. The talented Miss Passal, shown with one of her paintings above, is represented by Mari Galleries, Woodstock, which sold one of her works to Edward Ellicofon, Brooklyn lawyer and art collector. Ellicofon, who owns a prime pair of portraits, painted in 1499 by the Renaissance German master, Albert Durer, and worth $500,000 each, received international publicity in Life magazine recently when his discovery was authenticated. A brother of the famed photographer, Elliot Ellicofon, he said, upon acquiring the Passal work: "I have been an admirer of Miss Passal's work for some time and have followed her progress and successes. . . She is a welcome addition to my collection." Miss Passal, a summer resident of Woodstock with a home on Glasco Turnpike, has exhibited widely in New York and abroad. Her most recent one-man show was with the Jason Gallery in April.

Blames Scanton

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Leader Joshua Eilberg said today that the struggle over the 1966-67 budget is due in large part to what he termed misleading budget estimates by Gov. William Scanton.

"Since 1963 the governor has given up budget estimates that have been wrong," Eilberg, a Philadelphia Democrat said. "Every few months he would come up with a revision."

Eilberg said there was "no question" but that the rate of revenue collection is going "up and up." The "misleading" estimates from the governor's office are hampering legislative planning, he said.

About 60,000 persons died in an earthquake in Lisbon, Portugal, on Nov. 1, 1755.

Need Rat Control

MYSORE, India (AP) — A government ministry for rat and infestation control was proposed by Dr. H.A.B. Parpia, director of the government food research institute. He said rats in India consume as much food as 400 million people.

Forst Summer Home Again Burglarized

For the second time within a month, the summer residence of Donald Forst at Zena has been entered. Deputy Sheriff Raymond Davis, who conducted the preliminary investigation, reported entrance was gained by forcing a window and exit was made through the kitchen door which was left open. The burglary was reported Saturday night. The prior entrance was during the week of June 17.

An investigation disclosed that the only thing missing was a quantity of food from a refrigerator.

The owner resides at 280 West End Avenue New York City. The entrance is being investigated by County Investigator Thomas Mayone.

This is the third entrance in the neighborhood within a month. The premises of Harriet Katz, a short distance from the Forst premises, was entered on June 17. The Forst property is located at the junction of Zena Road and Van Dale road in the town of Kingston.

Pamela Sue Davis Comes Home With Two Trophies and Scholarship; Queen Named

A 22-year old girl who wants to work with underprivileged children, will represent New York State in the Miss America Pageant. Penelope Timothea Donoghue of Yonkers, competing as Miss Westchester County, became Miss New York State 1966 Saturday night in the annual annual state contest staged in Olean, N. Y.

Ulster County is proud today of its only entry in the competition, Pamela Sue Davis, who as "Miss Saugerties" has returned to her Barclay Heights home in Saugerties with two trophies and a $200 scholarship.

The second night of the competition, Miss Davis won a trophy for her talent presentation—a commentary while drawing caricatures of famous personalities. On Sunday morning at the awards breakfast, Miss Davis was singled out for another honor: a trophy for being the Most Talented Non-Finalist and a scholarship in the amount of $200.

Miss Davis has the distinction of having been named one of the 10 finalists who competed for the state crown on Saturday night.

The new Miss New York State stands 5-foot six, weighs 120 pounds and measures 32-24-34. She received her crown from Marlene Butcher of Hamburg, who closed out her year-long reign as Miss New York State 1966.

Miss Donoghue, a graduate of the University of Tampa, Fla., plans to study for a doctorate in education. Her father, Timothy, is a group insurance manager, and her mother is a guidance counselor at Longfellow Junior High School in Yonkers.

Pageant officials said she retained her poise when her modern dance performance in the talent competition was cut short by a faulty record player. She won the swimsuit preliminary contest Friday.

Miss Donoghue said she favors participation sports, including skiing, tennis, horseback riding and swimming.

The first runner-up in the contest was Norene C. Crowley of Bolivar, Miss Dunkirk-Fredonia, an 18-year-old sophomore at the State University College at Fredonia.

Other runners-up who became members of the queen's court, were:

Margaret A. Leonard, 19, of Rochester, Miss Rochester, a sophomore at Eastman School of Music, second; Barbara T. Heilmann, 18, of New Rochelle, Miss New Rochelle and a Skidmore College freshman, third; and Suzanne J. Meyer, 18, of Hamburg, Miss Southern Erie County, a 1966 high school graduate, fourth.

Susan J. Powers, representing her home town of Mount Vernon, won the Miss Congeniality title. She is a sophomore at the School of Visual Arts in New York City. Miss Donoghue's address is 111 Ballantyne Lane, Yonkers.

Doing The Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

STUDENTS SCORED FOR ABYSMAL MANNERS

Dear Mrs. Post: I was shocked to see in the paper that some students and professors walked out of the ceremonies when Defense Secretary McNamara was being awarded an honorary degree. No matter what their reasons, wasn't this a rude way to show their objections? — Mrs. H. A.

Dear Mrs. A.: It was inexcusably ill-mannered on the part of these objectors to walk out on a ceremony honoring a man whose presence was invited and who is striving to do an honorable job to the best of his ability. A New York newspaper said, "Any American has a right to protest against anything. But this small N.Y.U. minority seems to have forgotten that ladies, gentlemen and scholars do not ever walk out on an invited guest or host at his remarks."

Invitation Refused — Who Owes Whom?

Dear Mr. Post: If I invite someone to lunch or dinner at my house and she cannot come, am I obliged to invite her another time? — Harriet J.

Dear Harriet: You may have lessened your obligation to her slightly but you certainly have not repaid it in full. Ask her again when the opportunity arises.

Note of Condolence As Well As Call?

Dear Mrs. Post: When someone dies and you go to the funeral home to pay your respects to the family, is it necessary to also write a note of condolence? — Janet Thompkins.

Dear Mrs. Thompkins: Unless you truly wish to write to a member of the family who was not present when you visited the funeral home, there is no reason to write a letter of sympathy after you have called.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that we receive each week, we'll send a free copy of Emily Post's "Etiquette," revised by Elizabeth L. Post. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column every Friday. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper, and don't forget to include your name and address.

On Monday, July 4, 1966, at 12 o'clock, marriage vows were exchanged by Patricia Joan Lipp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lipp of Rolling Meadows, Kingston, and Charles Franklin Schwartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schwartz of Massapequa, L.I., N.Y. The wedding ceremony was held in The Allison, Manhasset, L.I., with Rabbi Alvin Rubin of Temple Sinai Roslyn officiating.

Miss Cynthia Lipp, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor in a floor length ice green linen gown styled with Kabuki sleeves of silk organza. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations and baby's breath.

Miss Linda Lipp of Rolling Meadows, sister of the bride, was an attendant. Her gown was identical to that by the honor attendant and she carried yellow carnations with baby's breath.

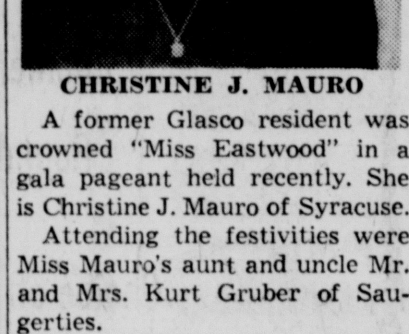

Michael Lipp of Rolling Meadows, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushering was Gilbert Tyler of Huntington, L. I., N. Y.

A reception was given for 130 guests in The Allison immediately after the wedding ceremony.

Mrs. Schwartz attended Queens College of City University of New York with a BA degree. He is accountant with Eisner and Lubin Public Accountants at 250 Park Avenue, New York.

Health for All

Thieves of Breathing

People with hay fever do a lot of sneezing. People with asthma do quite a bit of wheezing. All that sneezing and wheezing make some normally sensible people believe that the respiratory allergies—asthma and hay fever—are somehow sort of funny. They couldn't be more mistaken.

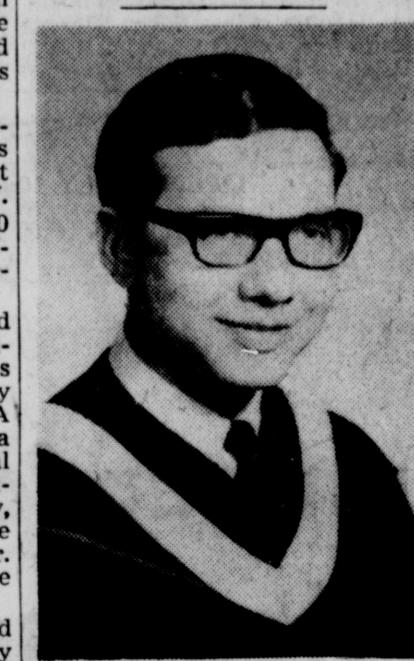

More than 5,000 people die of asthma each year in the United States. People who have hay fever (unpleasant enough in itself) often develop asthma—about one out of three. Another unfunny fact: respiratory allergy is responsible for one fourth of all the days lost from school through chronic illness.

Hay fever—actually an inflammation of the nose tissues—is caused mostly by plant pollen, which turns out to be ragweed in about 75 per cent of cases. Other causes of the disease are mold spores, animal dandruff, or plain ordinary dust.

Hay fever can usually be controlled by identifying the type of substance that causes the trouble, and developing a counteragent that can be injected into the patient to neutralize the trouble maker. It sounds a little like a TV spy drama, but takes a lot longer.

Asthma usually happens to people with an inherited tendency to allergy. Bronchial asthma affects the small air passages that carry air from the windpipe into the lungs. Acute attacks are often triggered by emotional upsets.

Asthma, like hay fever, is controlled by injections of a desensitizing substance. Changes of climate may still be recommended in difficult cases; but pollen is apt to be found anywhere. Medical care can either cure or give substantial relief to sufferers from respiratory allergy. Ask your Christmas Seal association for free leaflets called, "Hay Fever, the Facts," and "Asthma, the Facts."

The report criticized what it called the decline of U.S. leadership in the United Nations as "but another measure of the opportunities thrown away by the present administration."

Turnau's Music Director Discusses Trip To Russia; Returns for Tour This Winter

By Dorothy A. Narel
Freeman Society Editor

Warren Wilson musical director for Turnau Opera in Woodstock and full time accompanist for the noted singer William Warfield has only praise for the treatment he received while in Moscow Russia for the recent Tchaikovsky International Music Competition.

Approximately 30 Americans were selected by the music committee of the Institute of International Education and U. S. Department of State to compete in the world acclaimed contest. The competition drew 240 contestants from all parts of the world.

"We were accorded every courtesy—bouquets of flowers at the airport tour guides, even a weekly allowance averaging about $20 in American money. My hotel room while not on a par with first class accommodations in America, was equipped with a nine foot concert grand in order that I could rehearse at my convenience. I was assigned a maid and a full time interpreter," Wilson said.

Wilson experienced a double honor for not only was he privileged to represent his country in the foreign competition, but the three singers whom he accompanied won the coveted prizes and Wilson's keyboard artistry won him a 10 minute standing ovation from the Russian audience.

Tour Is Booked

One of the singers, Jane Marsh, was the first American to win first prize in the Tchaikovsky contest since Van Cliburn in 1958. She will make her first American appearance since receiving the award with the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Tanglewood Sunday, July 24.

The second singer, Veronica Tyler, tied for second prize in Moscow. She performed with the Boston Symphony this season and at Tanglewood last summer. Simon Estes, the third American, entry whom Wilson accompanied at the keyboard, was third prize winner in the men's division. He also received a fellowship from the Berkshire Music Center for the current season.

Center for the current season. The three prize winners and Wilson are scheduled to give a concert tour in Russia during December and January.

"I'm looking forward to a Russian winter," Wilson said, "but I know I will enjoy this second trip twice as much. There is tremendous emphasis for the arts in Russia. The audiences are so warm and responsive."

Everywhere you go, if you are in any way connected with the arts, you are literally bombarded with flowers and receive royal treatment," Wilson said. Wilson also feels he will be able to cope better with conditions in Russia on his return trip. "I was comparing everything with American standards but now that I know what to expect I will be able to adjust more easily. Of one thing I am certain, I am going to pack a light wardrobe and stock up on foods," Wilson said. Wilson did not like Russian food and he stated that only those Russians in the upper echelon of government can enjoy and afford the fine vodkas, wines and imported delicacies.

"But the Russian people are delightfully warm and outgoing," Wilson stated. "They are like little children in their enthusiasm. But I was particularly impressed with the way the competition was handled. It was tremendously well organized—right down to the smallest detail. The Russian Ministry of Culture provided guides to all the important sites including some which are not generally open to the public.

"Like any other American," Wilson said "I've often wondered why Moscow's Red Square drew such tremendous crowds but until you actually see Red Square, until you see the unending lines of people waiting for an opportunity to pass in front of the brilliant red Lenin Mausoleum, until you witness the perfect precision changing of the honor guards every three minutes, you will never be able to realize how really breath-taking such an experience is to a tourist."

This is Wilson's third year with Turnau. In its unique and secluded setting, the Byrdcliffe Theatre in Woodstock where Turnau is housed for the summer, has been the home of many famous artists since its construction in 1905. Here Richard Boleslavsky and Maria Ouspenskaya ran a Russian theatre group and Jose Quintero did some of his early directing. Conferences were held under the auspices of the League of Nations Committee on International Intellectual Cooperation and foreign guests were entertained at the Villetta Inn across the road. The lobby housed an extensive and valuable library.

Peter Whitehead, son of Ralph Radcliffe Whitehead who founded the Byrdcliffe Community of which the theatre has been so vital a part, has made possible the continuation of this intellectual and artistic heritage by providing Turnau Opera Players with a home at the Byrdcliffe Theatre and the Villetta Inn for the past 11 years.

Turnau has made tremendous progress. In 1955, the Players performed four short operas in converted roller skating rink at Pine Hill, N. Y. Today, the company presents almost 100 performances from its repertoire of approximately 50 operas.

The summer season at Byrdcliffe Theatre is followed by a winter season at the Asolo Theatre in Sarasota, Fla. Interspersed are extensive tours to theatres and colleges throughout the United States and several special engagements at Antioch College.

Now on stage is Gluck's ORPHEUS AND EURYDICE in which the talented Alan Baker appears as Orpheus, Carolyn Heafner as Eurydice, and Carol Toscano as Amor. Members of Ars Choralis provide choral background under the direction of Bernard de Surcy. In the group are Kim Chalmers, Juliet Cunningham, Carolyn Schrier, Margo Balmer, Margaret Gambini, Katherine Montgomery, Linda Ketcham, James Williams, James Cummins and Sidney Smith. Ballet dancers are Pamela Ladimer, Marsha Wolfson, Gary Chryst, and Mario Delamo.

181 Participate At YMCA Summer Camp at Shokan

The first period of the YMCA Day Camp ended on Friday with a record breaking 181 campers for the start of the eighth season in Shokan.

New equipment and improvements include the enclosing of Lou Schafer Lodge, new sections on the docks, new archery targets and nylon backstop and the making of a rifle range. The first week senior campers and counselors worked to complete the rifle range. Rifles were donated by the Hurley Lions Club, Hurley Rod and Gun Club and Elston Sport Shop. The primary object of the rifle range is to teach safety and respect of firearms and John Osterhout, senior unit leader as instructor. Special events held in the Midget Village were a Gold Hunt, Crazy Hat Day and a Snipe Hunt.

The juniors and seniors had a Crazy Hat Day and a baseball clinic under the direction of Albert DiBernardo, camp program director. This program proved to be very popular with the boys as instruction was given in bunting, hitting, fielding and double plays. The boys did learn as they beat the staff in a ball game by 7-0. Robert Reynolds, waterfront director reports the following tests were passed in water-skills: Beginner-Minnow: Diane Farber, Pamela Jean Costello, Edward McDevitt, Jean Duffy, Sandra Carleton, Maria Braun, Lisa Prescott, Frank Falatyn, James Brown, Leslie Cloutier, George Mehm, Joseph Whitney, Robert Tiers, Robert Maines, and Pamela Smith. In the Fish Class those who passed are: Lisa Schroeder, Christopher Vanni, Anne Stedje, Marjorie Semilof, Bruce Paulus, Jill Porter MacDonald, Jeffrey Schiff, Benjamin Noble, Karl Hartley, Dorine Shuman, Russell Sachs, Barbara Sheehan, Donald Smith, Mary Lynn Bock, Jo Ann Montelone, Barbara Brown, John Sheehan, Nancy Ellsworth, Ann Schroeder, Diane Gether and William Davidson.

New Flying Fish: Claire Means, Jay Burnett, Robert Schiff, and Thomas Henebery. The most difficult Shark tests were passed by Geoffrey Seeger, Regina Atkins and Mark Wakefield. ### See Vacationland As State of Mind

Vacationland isn't a place — it's a state of mind. At least, for some people. You belong to the club if you think you really become a different person on vacation.

The freedom from your routine work and possibly a change of scenery may make you feel like a different person. And that's not bad. But your body is the same body that's driving to work, sitting at your desk, coming home to watch television, play bridge or read a book, for the preceding 50 weeks. This is hardly olympic training, you must admit. A vacation is a good time to play, but don't play around with your health, cautions the Mid-Hudson Heart Association.

Take It Easy

Too many people seem to forget that a body used to soft living doesn't suddenly change at 5 p. m. as Friday vacation begins. After a full day's work, they bundle the family into the car and start driving a couple of hundred miles — or until they're too bleary-eyed with fatigue to see the road.

You'll enjoy your whole vacation more if you take it easy the first few days of your two-weeks-with-pay or whatever it is. If you're planning an athletic vacation, get into shape gradually, starting months before your vacation. Begin with daily moderate exercise — maybe just brisk walking at first — then work up to more strenuous exercise. Vacation or not, moderate exercise regularly performed will keep you and your heart in good condition.

Remember too that few family men are the athletes they were while on the high school or college varsity. Participate in sports if you're physically fit and up to the particular stresses involved. But don't try to impress your family or friends with your strength or endurance. They'll love you anyway, and probably longer. No need to climb the highest mountain, especially if the stairs in your split-level house are the only things you've climbed recently.

Plan activities that are within your physical capacity. Before you start out on any vigorous type of vacation, get a thorough physical examination and tell your doctor how you intend to spend your vacation. This is important especially if you are overweight or plan to visit high altitude areas which can put an extra strain on you even if you're in good health.

Plan Accordingly

If your doctor tells you that a particular sport — say scuba diving — is out for you, plan your vacation accordingly. There are many exciting and pleasurable activities that can be substituted with no worries attached.

While you're on vacation, or at any time for that matter, pay attention to warning signals like shortness of breath, tired muscles, dizziness or fatigue. They are the body's way of telling you to slow down, take it easy.

Aside from aching muscles and joints, the threat of sunburn, poison ivy and fractured bones, consider your heart. If after leading a fairly sedentary life for most of the year, you suddenly throw yourself into 10 or 20 straight days of strenuous physical activity, you give your heart a pretty rugged workout. It must supply blood to all those muscles you're using, perhaps for the first time in many months.

When temperatures soar, the heart must work harder because it helps cool your body in hot weather just as it helps warm your body in cold weather. If you intend to be unusually active on your vacation, give your heart some practice beforehand. Remember your heart has to last your lifetime. And one thing's for sure, you can't go on vacation without it.

For more information on heart and heart disease, contact the Mid-Hudson Heart Association, 268 Fair Street.

Need Superintendent

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The Newark Board of Education wants a new superintendent of schools badly. It says it plans to mail 3,600 brochures throughout the country urging eligible candidates to apply for the job. Dr. Edward F. Kennedy is resigning as superintendent.

GOP Image Blurred Republicans Are Divided On Civil Rights, Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I don't belong to an organized political party," Will Rogers once said. "I'm a Democrat."

As usual, the famous American humorist was on target. The Democratic party, then as now, brought under one tent politicians of widely divergent and often clashing viewpoints.

Had Rogers been talking about the GOP, he would not have struck a respondent chord. With rare exception — such as Theodore Roosevelt's falling out with William Howard Taft — the Republican identity was fixed for even the least attentive voter to see, its front united.

But now, four short months before the congressional elections, the elephant is as likely to go thundering off in one direction as another. The party image is blurred; even the facade of a platform remains an elusive thing.

Grope for Clearing

Whatever the cause — the schism that followed Barry Goldwater's nomination in 1964 or the adroitness of President Johnson in constructing a consensus that fans out on both sides of the political road — the GOP still is groping for a clearing in which to pitch its tent.

On civil rights legislation and the war in Viet Nam, two subjects that will be uppermost in the voter's mind in November. Republicans appear to be anything but united.

While Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen scorned Johnson's proposed ban on racial discrimination in all housing transactions as unconstitutional, House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford is known to have privately counseled House Republicans to take no official stand — and thereby force the Democrats to stand up and be counted on a hot political issue.

All the while, liberal House Republicans headed by Rep. Charles M. Mathias Jr. of Maryland worked shoulder to shoulder with Democrats to produce a compromise proposal that stands a better chance of clearing Congress.

Scattered Opinion

On Viet Nam, leading Republicans are scattered all over the lot.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, a former chairman of the Republican National Committee, calls for a selective blockade. Goldwater suggests the closing of the port of Haiphong by "sinking light ships in its very shallow and narrow channel."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, considered a possible vice-presidential candidate in 1968, calls the bombing of the Hanoi and Haiphong oil depots "the wrong decision." Gov. George Romney of Michigan, a potential bidder for the presidential nomination, says he is in doubt about the fundamental policy behind the American presence in Asia.

This is not to suggest that Democrats are not divided on civil rights and on the war in Viet Nam. But they have the luxury of being in power. It is the Republicans, the "outs," who would seem to be most in need of developing clear-cut positions.

Two Airlines Will Revise Schedules

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — American Airlines will reduce its service to three Upstate cities during the current airlines strike, while Mohawk Airlines plans to expand its existing schedules, the carriers say.

Mohawk said Sunday it would ask the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to offer complete service from Rochester, Buffalo and Syracuse for the duration of the strike against five major carriers by machinists.

A spokesman for American in New York said airlines freed as a result of its curtailed schedule would be used to supplement the airline's flights between New York and Washington and New York and Cleveland. Both routes have been hard hit by the strike, he said.

The revised American schedule was expected to go into effect Tuesday morning, he said. A Mohawk spokesman here said his company could handle air traffic in the three cities "very adequately," while American concentrated on long-haul flights.

Mohawk also reported that business was down 10 per cent because travelers feared being stranded at other points.

Schools To Be Crowded

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — The schools may seem crowded now, that they're going to get even more so in the future.

Dr. Samuel B. Gould, president of the State University of New York, says the outgrowth of this strain could be the replacement of the traditional campus with more dependence on television and other communications techniques.

State Jaycee Champions Named in Weekend Sports Spectacular

The 1966 New York State Jaycee Sports Spectacular is now history as championships were decided over the weekend in golf, tennis and track and field. The two-day meet was held in Kingston Friday and Saturday and attracted some of the top athletes from the state.

Highlighting the activity was the golf title won by James Kuntz of Rochester; the half-mile and mile victories of Newburgh's Appell and the tennis upset of nationally third ranked Elliott Berry by Steve Squires of New York City, ranked sixth among the country's junior players.

Kuntz, a 17-year-old player who did not compete on the high school golf team, fired rounds of 73, 72 and 78 for 223, seven over par for the 54 holes, to beat 80 top swingers in the golf division, held at Wiltwyck Country Club.

Kuntz won by eight strokes over Jack Callahan, 15, Schenectady, who had 77-76-79-231 and Doug Grabowski, Schenectady, 75-79-77-231.

Callahan, son of Siena college golf coach Leon Callahan, won the playoff for the second place cup with a par on the fourth hole. He also captured the junior cup for boys under 16 years of age.

Carl Nanni of Rochester was fourth among the 21 finalists with 78-77-78-233. The top four will compete in the national tournament, scheduled in Greensboro, North Carolina.

Bob Costello of Kingston and Kevin Ryan of Troy tied for fifth with 234s. Costello had 81-75-78 and Ryan recorded 75-81-78. Costello won the playoff with a par four on the first hole and qualified as the alternate.

Other scores: Jim Lum, Oswego, 74-81-80-

235; Carey Watson, Syracuse, 76-78-82-236; Joseph Banaszek, Brooklyn, 81-73-83-237; Dick Rarsch, Syracuse, 76-79-82-237; Paul Kelly, Poughkeepsie, 73-82-81-236; William Clapp, Rochester, 80-78-77-235; Joseph Russo, Syracuse, 81-77-78-236; Ted Izzo, Rochester, 81-75-83-239; Nick Rotondo, Batavia, 77-82-82-241; Phil DePolola, Cortland, 80-80-83-243; Tom Gaffney, Kingston, 83-77-84-244; Peter Burdick, Pearl River, 75-82-88-245; Bob Bickwell, Potsdam, 78-82-86-246; Donald Alvarez, Rome, 78-81-89-248.

Highlights of the tennis tournament was the triumph of Squires over Berry. The New York City player defeated the top seeded Oyster Bay, Long Island youngster, 6-2, 6-3, in the boys 18 and under championship. Berry had gained the finals with 6-4, 8-6 straight set win over Rich Murray of New York. Squires beat Robert Bernstein of New York, 6-2, 6-3, in the semi-finals. In the 16 and under division, Tim Wolfe of Newburgh topped Kingston's Dave Roberts, 6-2, 6-2, in the finals. Wolfe beat Richard Johns, New York, 6-2, 6-2, and Roberts stopped Terry Deery, 9-7, 7-5, in semi-final matches.

To Play in Florida
Winners and second place finishers will compete in the national championship, listed Aug. 15 in Tampa, Florida. They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Al Miller of New Paltz. Miller is varsity tennis coach at State University.

Previously, only enough money for the champion was available but an unnamed donor made it possible for the others to make the trip. In consolation tennis matches,

James Kinley, Nyack, defeated Howard Schwartz, Yonkers, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3, in the 18 and under division and Dick Schild, Nyack, topped Tom Bloodgood 6-1, 6-4, in the 16 and under division.

Appell stole the show in the track and field meet, held at Dietz Stadium. He won the 880-yard event in 1 minute, 59.9 seconds and captured the mile in 4 minutes, 31.4 seconds. John Tweedy, Kingston High school's track star, was a disappointing third in the mile event.

Saugerties Winners
John Warms of Saugerties captured the 180 yard low hurdles and the 120-yard high hurdles in the under 16 division. Al Cotich of Saugerties was also a double winner in that division, taking first in the discus and the shot.

First place finishers in the track and field events will compete at the national finals in Colorado.

Farrell Is Speaker
Contestants in the weekend spectacular were feted at an awards banquet Saturday at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. Jack Farrell, head of the speakers bureau of the New York Yankees, was guest speaker.

John Mazzucca, local Jaycee president and chairman of the spectacular, gave special thanks to the Binnewater Lake Ice Co., Montgomery Ward and the Pepsi Cola Co. "We are appreciative of the help everyone gave us and because of that help, the sports spectacular was a success," Mazzucca said.

Bucs Sweep Series

Bob Friend, Walker Have Word Exchange

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer
Veteran pitcher Bob Friend knows about pressure. But that extra squeeze put on by the Pittsburgh Pirates was just too much.

Friend, an ex-Pirate, became angry Sunday when the Pirates, leading by five runs in the eighth inning en route to a 9-4 victory over the New York Mets, tried to squeeze in another run. It backfired, but that didn't pacify Friend.

As he was leaving the field, Friend glared at the Pittsburgh dugout and shouted, "That's bush stuff, trying a squeeze when you're five runs ahead."

Pirates Manager Harry Walker shouted back, and he and Friend started toward each other but were restrained.

After the game, Walker said, "Whenever the club I'm playing gives up and quits, that's when I intend to stop trying to score runs. Baseball is played to win, and that's all I have to say."

Ends Losing Streak

The Cincinnati Reds helped Manager Don Heffner pass an acid test by ending an 11-game losing streak with a 2-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Following the victory, the 55-year-old Heffner chewed two tablets which absorb stomach acid and said, "My stomach's been jumping for 55 years. But this (the slump) hasn't helped any."

The Cincinnati victory enabled second-place Pittsburgh to close to within one game of the Giants in the National League. The Atlanta Braves edged Los Angeles, 2-0, the Chicago Cubs blasted Philadelphia 10-2 and Houston nipped St. Louis 6-5 in other National League games.

The Pirates broke a 4-4 tie with their five-run eighth, Roberto Clemente's single driving in the go-ahead run. After all the runs had scored, Friend relieved Bob Shaw. With a runner on third and two strikes on the batter, Elroy Face, the Pirates' pitcher, tried the squeeze, but Face missed the ball for a strike out and the runner was caught off third.

Milt Pappas pitched out of numerous jams in winning for Cincinnati. The Reds built a 2-0 lead on run-scoring singles by Vada Pinson and Tony Perez before the Giants narrowed it on Ozzie Virgil's homer in the ninth.

Lemaster Takes LA
Denny Lemaster pitched a five-hitter and Frank Bolling and Woody Woodward singled home runs in the fifth inning for Atlanta's victory over the Dodgers.

Ernie Banks was the big man in the Cubs' triumph over Philadelphia, driving in five runs with three hits. Southpaw Dick Ellsworth picked up his fifth victory against 12 defeats, with Jim Bunning taking the loss.

Rusty Staub hit a pair of homers, the second one with a man on in Houston's three-run eighth, as the Astros beat the Cardinals in 104-degree weather at St. Louis.

Red Sox, Tigers

St. Mary's Winners

Red Sox nipped the Mets, 6-5, and the Tigers stopped the Cubs, 7-4, in St. Mary's Pee Wee League games. The Red Sox have an 11-4 record, and the Tigers are 9-7.

Andy Demskie was the winner for the Red Sox, who clouted 13 hits. Frank Bailey and Tim Ferraro slugged homers. Tigers erupted for five runs in the fourth inning to beat the Cubs. Perry Gallo was the winner over Mike Berardi.

Line scores:
Red Sox ..... R H
Mets ..... 212 300-6 13
Berardi, Demskie and Bailey; Kwasnowski and Vigna.

Cubs ..... R H
Tigers ..... 200 500-7 12

Catches 20-Pound Pike

Robert Brandow of Kingston, home on leave from his duties with the U. S. Navy, went fishing in Canada Sunday and came home with a 20 pound northern pike. The catch was 42 inches long.

Brandow was with his father, Renee, and with Val Galm.

Tyler Raps 635

Doug Tyler slammed 179, 215 and 241 for 635 in the Hilltop Mixer. Results: Alpine 2, Anchorage 1; TP Tavern 2, Pleasure Yacht 1; The Elms 2, Costello's 1; Snyder's Soft Water Service 2, Elmer's 1.

Griffith Is Choice To Beat Joey Archer

By MURRAY ROSE

Middleweight champion Emile Griffith, an old hand at title fights, and challenger Joey Archer of New York, who is getting his first crack at a crown, meet in a 15-rounder at New York's Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

In another title fight, Argentina's Horacio Accavallo risks his share of the world flyweight crown against Japan's Hiroyuki Ebihara in a once-postponed 15-rounder at Buenos Aires, Argentina, Friday night.

The 28-year-old Griffith is a 7-1 has a 46-2 record, including only nine knockouts. He never has been stopped.

There are several other good matches on the week's program.

Bobo Olson, the former middleweight champion from San Francisco, meets Italy's Piero Del Papa, the European light heavyweight king, in a 10-round at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium Monday night.

5 favorite over the 28-year-old Archer in a bout that would be telecast from coast to coast. New York will be blacked out.

This will be the 13th title fight for Griffith. He has a 9-2 record for welterweight championships and a 1-0 record for the middleweight title. He won the heavier division crown by flooring and outpointing Nigeria's Dick Tiger at the Garden last April 25.

Griffith, a pro eight years, has a 50-7 won-lost record, including 18 knockouts. He has been stopped once — by Rubin Carter in the first round.

Archer, a pro nearly 10 years, Irish Jerry Quarry, an unbeaten heavyweight prospect from Bellflower, Calif., takes on 33-year-old Eddie Machen of San Francisco in a 10-rounder at the Olympic Auditorium in Los Angeles Thursday night.

Hudson Tops Kingston Americans, 7-4, for Babe Ruth Title

Ken Gilligan's No-Hitter Tops Weekend Action

Despite a brilliant no-hitter by Ken Gilligan, which carried the Kingston Americans to the finals, Hudson captured honors in the District tournament at Dietz Stadium by beating the locals, 7-4, in the championship game.

Gilligan's masterpiece came in the semi-finals as the Kingston Americans whitewashed Catskill, 2-0. In the other semi-final tilt, Hudson stopped the Kingston Nationals, 5-2.

The district champions will compete in the state tournament, scheduled from July 27-31 in Elmira.

In the title game, the winners picked up four runs in the second frame and were never headed. The local nine threatened in the seventh, scoring three runs and leaving the bases loaded.

Frosty Novak slammed the big blow for the winners, a home run. Starter Joel Heimlich was the loser while Paul Koskowski won it.

Gilligan walked three and struck out 15 in hurling his team into the finals. John Carter aided the no-hitter with a great catch in the opening inning. Gilligan had the only extra base hit of the game — a double.

The Kingston Nationals took an early 2-0 lead over Hudson but Novak delivered a two-run single in the 5th to break a 2-2 tie and decide the outcome. Cookie Matties was the winner and Steve VanDyke lost it.

AL Seeking to Deadlock All-Star Series

Regan, Siebert Added to Teams For St. Louis Tilt

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The embarrased American League, winner of only one of the last nine All-Star baseball games, is ready to go all out Tuesday against the favored National League's impressive array.

The National Leagueers have been taking bows for winning both the World Series and the All-Star Game in each of the last three years. Overcoming a 12-4 edge in the All-Star series once completely dominated by the American League, Willie Mays and Co. have taken the lead 18-17.

Will Name Pitchers

Both managers were scheduled to name their pitchers and batting orders at a morning news conference.

Alston, who had been undecided about coming to the game due to the illness of his mother, is expected to be on hand. If he cannot make it, Herman Franks of the league-leading San Francisco Giants will take his place.

Injuries struck the National League starting line-up forcing Alston to replace second baseman Joe Morgan of Houston with switch-hitting Jim Lefebvre of his Dodger club. Morgan suffered a broken knee cap a week ago.

Ron Santo, the Chicago Cubs' third baseman, retained his starting job, wearing a special face guard to protect his injured cheekbone.

Select Johnson As Top Performer In Grid Contest

ALTANTA (AP) — Randy Johnson is getting better all the time, but the rangy Texan says his biggest football challenge is still ahead.

"I never dreamed I would be where I am now," the Texas A&I quarterback said after he guided the West to a 24-7 conquest of the East in the Coaches All-America game. "Now my big challenge comes when I join the Falcons."

Johnson was named the game's Most Valuable Player after he connected on 24 of 38 passes for 237 yards and two touchdowns, and scored once himself on a three-yard sprint.

"I was named the outstanding back in the Senior Bowl, and the Most Valuable Player in the Blue-Gray game," Johnson added. "But this was the best of all."

The 6-foot-3 stringbean has one more game left — the College All-Star battle Aug. 5 in Chicago — before he starts what National Football League experts believe will be a great pro career.

At Oehler Field Sport Club Defeats Schwaben SC, 5-3

Still unbeatable on their home grounds, the Kingston Sport Club booters roared to a quick advantage and easily disposed of the Schwaben Sport Club, 5-3, Sunday at Oehler's Mountain Lodge field.

Coach Bob Graves' team adjusted to the heat and played the first half at a leisurely pace. However, Rheinhardt shoved the locals ahead, 1-0, at the 18 minute mark. After Schwaben had knotted the count, Dirks (49 minutes), Lee Roberts (57 minutes) and Schwebel (72 minutes) made it a rout.

The visitors tallied at the 80 minute mark and again in the closing minutes, but this only served to make the final score a mite closer.

At the conclusion of the game, both sides were entertained at a picnic and chairman Alex Dirks reported it a success.

The Sport Club will be idle for the next two weeks but players are urged to attend practice sessions on Wednesday of each week. New players are welcome to participate.

Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Baltimore Colts, is also the largest stockholder in Seven Arts. He went to England, ostensibly to check on some movies in production by that company. One of them happens to feature fullback Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns. So owner Art Modell of the Browns asked Carroll to drop in on his fullback to check on his football intentions. Rosenbloom did; Brown turned on the charm. Carroll reported back to Modell, "Why, he's a very nice fellow."

"Takes one to know one," sputtered Modell, or words to that effect. And still doesn't know whether he'll start the season with his great running back.

Dennis McLain, who leads the American League in pitching victories, thinks the traditional system of rating pitching effectiveness is all wet. "I don't feel an earned run average is a true picture of a pitcher," says the Detroit ace. "Some of your top relievers have high ERA's because they'll go eight or nine games in a row doing a great job and give up five or six runs in one game, and up goes the earned run mark. This is the way I've been. I got hit twice real hard this year, though I've pitched some good games, and my ERA is over 3.00."

Leon Wagner of the Cleveland Indians now comes equipped for all occasions with contact lenses: brown for sunny days, pink for cloudy days, and clear (Daddy Wags call them "white") for in-between weather.

The mighty-have-fallen department: John Pennel, former winner of the Sullivan Award, was approached by an AAU official during the pole vaulting competition. "Here, Bob," said the brass man, "are a bunch of AAU pins. You can use them to exchange with the Russians when they come over." "I'm not Bob," said Pennel, pointing to Bob Seagren, his roommate and successor as the world's highest vaulter. "He's over there." "Then where did John go?" asked the AAU official. Pennel shrugged. "See what happens," he mused later, "when you lose your world record?"

Dyrol Burleson, the Oregonian who seems to chase after Jim Ryun from here on out in the mile run, explains why he returned to track: "The mystique of the gold medal (in the '68 Olympics) ... and to get away from the books and the office."

The United States can't be sure they'll have Randy Matson, the greatest shotputter in history, in Mexico City in 1968. The big Texas Aggie admits he has been sounded out by several pro football teams. They pay more to throw ball carriers than 16-pound shots.

Mike Pyle, getting ready to go to camp with the rookies of the Chicago Bears, reveals that in his five years at Halas Tech no rookie (other than Mike his first year) has ever snapped the ball to the quarterback ... and he's the only center on top again this year.

Fred Whitfield, the first basemen of the Cleveland Indians, is having a sub-par slugging year but his reputation as a Yankee-killer is as high as ever. "It helps my confidence to play in the Stadium," says the Georgian, "because of that short porch in right field. I hit pretty good against the Yankees, so I'm relaxed ... and I think my reputation as a Yankee-killer helps me."

Between you'n'me, owner Wayne Valley of the Oakland Raiders has the definite word on pro football peace: "No longer do you have 24 idiots (i.e., owners) creating an imbalance in young adults' minds relating to money."

Downpour Halts Contest After 5; Paterson Next

Rain, an old bugaboo to the Kingston Braves, halted a good hurling duel Sunday at Dietz Stadium as the locals and Oppenheim Post of Albany played to a 1-1 deadlock. The downpour halted proceedings after the fifth inning.

Lionie McAndrew of the Braves and Rick Cronk of Albany surrendered first inning runs and then didn't allow anything. The visitors had four safeties while Kingston collected six, including three straight singles by Chick Boice.

A double by Joe St. Onge and Bob Horton's triple scored the Albany run. Hits by Lou Perry, Paul Natale and Boice evened the count in the last of the first.

The Braves will entertain the powerful Paterson Phillies this Saturday night at 8:15. Fred Davie's team has won two and tied one of three starts.

Armbrus Flight Suffers Injury

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—The anticipated rematch between Canada's Armbrus Flight and France's Roquepine in the $25,000 Challenge Cup Trot at Roosevelt Raceway may not come off as scheduled Saturday night.

Armbrus Flight, a 4-year-old mare, won the $100,000 Roosevelt International Trot last Saturday night by a neck over the 5-year-old French mare, Noble Victory of the United States, finished eight lengths back in third place.

Joe O'Brien, driver and trainer of Armbrus Flight, said Sunday his "game mare" had strained a ligament in the left hoof in a race at Roosevelt several weeks ago and might miss the Challenge Cup.

"We'll just have to wait and see how she comes out of the International," O'Brien said. "The entries aren't due until Wednesday so there's plenty of time."

Meantime Jean-Rene Gougen, driver of Roquepine, denied reports he had "mistaken the finish line" in the International. He gave full credit to O'Brien for opening a five-length lead with a quick burst of speed on the last turn. "That won the race," Jean-Rene said. "We needed 10 more meters."

If all goes well the Challenge Cup, a 1 1/4-mile sequel to the 1 1/4-mile international, will bring together Armbrus Flight, Roquepine, Noble Victory, Pluvier III of Sweden, Pick Wick F. of West Germany and three more U.S. Trotters, Worthy Scott, Perfect Freight and Jes R. Hoot.

In another development, Henri Levesque, owner of Roquepine, turned down an offer of $300,000 Sunday to sell her to Stanley Dancer, of New Milford, N.J., driver of Noble Victory.

Smith's Bat Propels Hot Sox Past Chicago

By RON RAPOPORT

George Smith was tired, Billy Herman was sorry and Tom Yawkey was buying.

The beer was on the house in the Boston dressing room Sunday after Smith, the Red Sox second baseman, who is prized mainly for his fielding, hit a grand-slam home run in the bottom of the 10th inning to give last-place Boston a 10-6 win over Chicago, a sweep of a double-header and its fifth straight victory.

A double by Joe St. Onge and Bob Horton's triple scored the Albany run. Hits by Lou Perry, Paul Natale and Boice evened the count in the last of the first.

Grand Circuit Racing Set To Commence at Monticello

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With a record of three world trotting marks in two weeks, the Grand Circuit moves into Monticello Raceway today for its third week of harness racing in Upstate New York.

The Circuit opened its Upstate tour at Saratoga Raceway, and Bonus Boy snapped the half-mile track world record for 3-year-old trotting geldings.

At Goshen last week, Speedy Rodney smashed the world trotting race mark over a double oval with a clocking of 1:58 4-5. The 5-year-old son of Rodney coupled that time with a 2:00 3-5 for a two-heat record of 3:59 2-5.

Only one horse has trotted faster over a half-mile track, Matastar, owned by the Arden Homestead Stables of Goshen, went in 1:58 3-5 in a time trial at Delaware, Ohio in 1963.

Two-year-olds start off the week at Monticello tonight, with the $9,728 Harry Whitney Trot for fillies and the Rupe Parker Pace for colts and geldings.

Frank Ervin's Speed Model and Starglow Hanover, and Billy Houghton's Flamboyant top the field of 11 fillies in the trot.

The pace, with 14 entered, was split into two $9,394 divisions, with Houghton's Tudor Hanover and Berry Hill favored in the first division, and his Nardin's Byrd the most likely to take the second.

Two-year-olds lead the card lies in the $11,608 Will Caton and trotting colts and geldings in the $9,728 Tom Berry.

Also coming up this week at the state's harness tracks are the $15,000 Harness Tracks of America Pace at Buffalo Raceway Friday night and the $25,000 Challenge Cup Trot at Roosevelt Raceway Saturday night.

The Challenge Cup will again pit the two mares that trotted away from the field in last Saturday night's $100,000 International at Roosevelt.

Canadian-owned Armbrus Flight defeated Roquepine of France by a neck in the International. The third horse, Nobel Victory, was eight lengths behind. The time of 2:31 3-5 for the 1 1/4 miles was only one-fifth off the world record for the distance.

At the other tracks Saturday night:

—At Buffalo Raceway, Marviculo ($9) won the $3,000 Invitational Pace in 2:00 2-5, only one-fifth of a second off the track record.

—At Vernon Downs, Waygone ($6.60) won the $3,000 Invitational Pace in 2:00 flat.

—At Saratoga Raceway, Ponco Tom ($4.80) won the $2,000 Frontier Town Pace in 2:04 1-5.

Jacksonville Snaps Skein

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Like the frail kid who learned to throw a new punch tangling with the neighborhood bully, a baseball team—in this case the Jacksonville Suns—will take it on the chin for just so long before it turns tiger.

The Suns had a five-game drought going into Sunday's contest with the league leading Columbus Jets and seemed well on their way to disappointing the home fans with another notch in the loss column.

But then, down 2-1 at the end of seven innings, the Suns turned tiger with a three-run upsurge that earned them a 4-3 victory and moved them near the break-even point in the percentages.

A walk by Greg Goosen set the stage for the rally. Moving to second on a ground out, he was singled home by Lou Klimchick. Ernie Bowman smashed a run-scoring double and he in turn was brought home by a two-bagger by pinch hitter Don Dillard.

A rain-called seven inning game at Buffalo featured home run hitters Larry Clayton and Tom Matchick, whose big blows with men on gave the Syracuse Chiefs a 6-3 victory over the Bisons.

Clayton's roundtripper gave the Chiefs a 3-2 lead in the fifth and Matchick hit his seventh of the season in the next frame. The scheduled second game of the doubleheader was postponed.

Toledo won its fifth straight by mauling the Richmond Braves 9-3 after a four-game sweep at Jacksonville. A grand slam homer by Bob Schmidt gave Toledo a 4-0 lead in the first inning and a two-run homer by Frank Fernandez in the eighth frame put the game out of sight for the Mud Hens.

Toronto and Rochester split a doubleheader with the home team taking the first game 6-4 and Rochester besting the Leafs 4-2 in the nightcap.

A homer by catcher Owen Johnson sparked a rally in the first game as the Leafs scored all six runs in the sixth inning. The big bat was also featured in the nightcap with the Red Wings' Steve Demeter hitting homers in the first and sixth innings and Bill Madden connecting in the second.

Scores Double Eagle
John Carnright, while playing in the President's Cup Match at the Rip Van Winkle Country Club in Palenville against Harry Szarmack, scored a double eagle on the ninth hole, a par-five 502-yard hole.

The care and feeding of a Pussycat.

The Volkswagen Karmann Ghia only has the looks of a $4,000 car, not the tastes. It's a Pussycat.

Sporty on top; economical underneath. You can keep one going for the same price you'd pay to keep a VW Sedan going.

Just remember these easy-to-remember suggestions:

When stopping for gas, no need to stop at a premium pump. (A Pussycat runs great on regular gas. At, say, 30¢ a gallon, $3 will stretch into about 300 miles.) And at, say, 50¢ a quart for oil, a change won't cost more than $1.50. (It only takes 2 1/2 quarts.)

Keep water off your mind, and always forget to put in antifreeze. (The engine is air-cooled; it can't boil or freeze.)

Also, a Pussycat is very easy on tires. (40,000 miles should pass before you even have to think about new ones.)

And most important, when trouble comes up, head down to a Volkswagen dealer and get charged Volkswagen prices for repairs. (It uses the same mechanical parts that a Beetle uses.)

That's our Pussycat. It costs less than $2,500, but it may upset the whole ritual of new car buying. The "good deal" comes after the sale.

Presidents' Church to Be Razed for Office Building

By STEPHEN M. AUG

WASHINGTON (AP)—A chandelier stood in the middle of the rubble-strewn floor of the National Presbyterian Church. Benches were askew, draperies had been ripped from the walls.

This was one of Washington's best-known churches today on the eve of its demolition. It was the church of at least eight presidents, most recently of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Just seven blocks north of the White House, National Presbyterian—with its stately Romanesque bell tower—is to be leveled to make room for an office building.

Chalked signs on the brown stone front of the church proclaim the destruction and add: "sale" — books, mirrors, paneling.

Inside, the curious, the antique collectors, the bargain hunters and an occasional parishioner searching for a memento pore over old books and furnishings.

Goods Go for A Song
A 200-year-old book goes for $2. A child's chair for $3.

Even some of the pews were sold — to a Baptist church in nearby Alexandria, Va.

Upstairs there is more litter. Papers tell of the history of the church — some in a personal way.

An old letter lying in a pile starts: "Dear Frances: There was a splendid looking fellow at the Lenten dinner the other night." Nearby, a file folder, stuffed with papers, is labeled "July-Dec. 1954, paid bills, vouchers." A couple of old women's shoes lie nearby alongside the mound of papers and a rubber stamp saying: "For deposit only to the account of the National Presbyterian Church."

Moving From Area
But the razing of the 80-year-old building doesn't mean the end of National Presbyterian. It's moving farther out to residential Northwest Washington.

"It's not anything new to have a new building for this congregation," said The Rev. Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, senior minister. The new building will be the fifth since the church was organized in 1795.

The Rev. Dr. Elson noted that all of the historical fixtures — including the pews used by presidents — will be in the new building.

President Eisenhower was the last president to attend services regularly at National Presbyterian. Others included Andrew Jackson, James Polk, Franklin Pierce, James Buchanan, Grover Cleveland, Benjamin Harrison and U.S. Grant. Most of the others worshiped there on occasion — though some in earlier buildings.

President Johnson has attended services in the present church which is just around the corner from St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral where funeral services were held for President John F. Kennedy.

King Links Arms With McKissick To Post Demands

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Sunday brushed past signs calling for "black power" to post the demands of his Chicago civil rights movement on the front door of City Hall.

The posting came after a heat-defying antislavery rally in Chicago's Soldier Field and a traffic-halting march through the Loop. Better housing, more jobs and better schools were among the demands.

Earlier, King linked arms with civil rights leaders, including Floyd McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, to form a common front in the struggle for Negro equality.

McKissick, who at first had said he might not be able to attend the rally, told the crowd of some 35,000 that the concept of black power had been misinterpreted, that it meant only that Negroes "have a right to determine their own futures."

He called for a "united black consumer bloc that would be able to strike at any concern," and ended his speech with a pledge to come to Dr. King's aid at any time. "He's my brother," McKissick said.

King recently has been in disagreement with McKissick and other advocates of black power.

All Must Join Fight
James H. Meredith, first known Negro graduate of the University of Mississippi, who was wounded during a recent march to Jackson, Miss., told the rally that all civil rights groups must join to fight "the system of white supremacy."

The slogan "black power" was seen in crudely painted signs, and heard in the chants of clutches of young Negroes and in the words of some of the many speakers at the rally.

Before King spoke, 150 persons delayed the rally several minutes when they paraded about the center of the field crying "black power!" and waving signs. One sign read "We Shall Overcome" and carried a picture of a machine gun. Some of the group identified themselves as members of the Blackstone Rangers, a teen-age gang on the South Side.

King told the crowd: "Within the white community there exists a substantial group of white Americans who cherish democratic principles above the privilege, and who have demonstrated a will to fight with the Negro against injustice."

"The Negro needs the white man to free him from his fears. The white man needs the Negro to free him from his guilt."

"I must reaffirm that I do not seek the answer to our problems in violence. Our movement's adherence to nonviolence has been a major factor in the creation of a moral climate that has made progress possible."

Limited-Profit Housing Abuses Cited by Board

NEW YORK (AP)—Loopholes in the state's limited-profit housing law turned it into a huge money maker for some builders, contractors and politicians, the State Investigation Commission (SIC) charges.

And the commission says profits can still be made through certain of the law's land acquisition provisions.

The commission made the accusations Sunday in issuing a report that recommends major changes in the law, including safeguards designed to curtail the use of political influence.

The report grew out of the SIC's investigation last February of the workings of the statute and allegations that political connections were needed to cut red tape in the State Division of Housing and the New York City Housing and Redevelopment Board.

According to the commission, the principal money-making scheme involved buying land from the city at auction and then offering it for sale at a substantially higher price. This new price was later listed as the land cost in mortgage and tax abatement applications, the report said.

The limited profit law, offers development companies low interest rate loans of up to 90 per cent on the total project cost.

As an example of abuses, the report cited a case which an application by a nonprofit organization to sponsor a large housing development in Brooklyn was delayed for years because an unidentified borough president refused to approve the project unless it was shared with a specified builder.

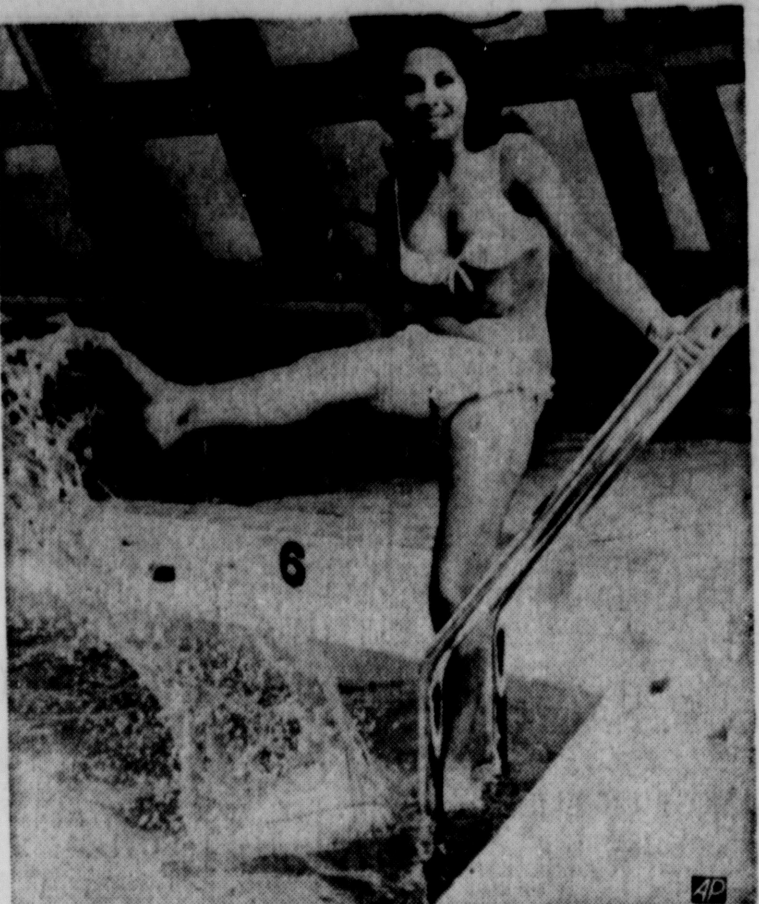

The commission did not indicate if the officialholder was Abe Stark, the current borough president, or the late John Cashmore, his predecessor.

These recommendations were issued by the commission: —Political party office holders should be banned from any financial association in a limited profit project.

—No attorney should be allowed a financial interest in projects undertaken by housing companies he represents.

—The state attorney general's office should be given authority to keep a check on aspects of the program.

—Tighter scrutiny should be exercised in applications coming before state and city housing agencies.

Questions, Answers on Federal Tax

This column of questions-and-answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I was audited last year and had to pay additional tax on my income. What are the chances I will be audited again?

A—Just because you have been audited once does not mean that you will automatically be audited the following year. Returns are selected for audit because there are apparent errors on the returns indicating overpayment or underpayment of tax. Returns are also selected for audit on a random basis to test and encourage correct reporting.

May Expect Audit
At some time or other, all taxpayers may expect to have their returns audited. At present, all returns are mathematically verified. Also, periodic checks on other aspects of a return contribute to sound tax administration.

Q—I'm withholding Social Security taxes for my maid who works in my home. Do I have to withhold income taxes too?

A—No. Household employees are exempt from income tax withholding.

Q—I just found out my father paid tax last year on his Social Security benefits. Is it too late to do anything about it?

A—No. Security benefits are not taxable and your father is entitled to a refund on the tax he paid on them. This can be done by filing a claim for refund on Form 843 or by filing an amended return.

To file an amended return, use a Form 1040 and write "amended" across the top. Then fill in the return as it should have been and recompute the tax liability.

Q—I'm in this country as a foreign exchange student. If I earn any money while I'm here will I have to pay U. S. tax on it?

A—Money earned while you are here will most likely be taxable income. Your tax obligations are explained in the booklets, "U. S. Tax Guide for Aliens" and "Tax Advice for Foreign Scholars," etc. They are available at no charge from the District Director's office.

About Tips
Q—In the restaurant where I work, most of the tips we get come from the service charge that is added on to the bill. Since we get this money from our employer we haven't been reporting this as tips. Now I find out that some friends of mine working in another restaurant are reporting this money as tip income. Who is right?

A—You are. Service charges shared by employees are considered wages and are reported as such.

Striking Farm Workers Begin 400-Mile March

By WALTER GRAY

SAN JUAN, Tex. (AP)—A band of farm workers striking for higher wages sets out today on a 400-mile march to the state capital, accompanied by a Protestant minister and a Roman Catholic priest wearing a cowboy hat and the Star of David.

The strikers want union recognition and a $1.25-an-hour minimum wage for Mexican-American seasonal field hands who do stoop labor in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

The marchers plan to hike 56 days through hot and sparsely populated country.

They hope to rally support for their cause in such cities as Corpus Christi and San Antonio and in dozens of crossroads towns with names like Skidmore, Pettus and Poth.

A similar march was made this year by vineyard workers in California's San Joaquin Valley. The grape pickers there won contracts with some producers. The Texas group has affiliated with the California union, the National Farm Workers Association.

The march is to end Labor Day in Austin, where Texas AFL-CIO officials say 50,000 to 100,000 persons will converge for a rally on the capitol grounds.

Gov. John B. Connally will be asked to hear personally the workers' request that a special session of the legislature be convened to pass a state minimum wage law that would cover farm laborers.

Johnson Flies Back to Capital

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson flies back to Washington today after a long holiday in the Texas sun.

The president and Mrs. Johnson flew to their ranch home, some 70 miles north of here, June 30 after appearances in Omaha and Des Moines. Their stay coincided with the July 4th congressional recess.

The Johnsons Sunday drove into Johnson City, 15 miles from the ranch, for services at the First Christian Church. Then they led two bus loads of newsmen and photographers to the President's rebuilt birthplace about a mile from his present ranch home.

The birthplace, a tiny frame structure sitting amid post oak and pecan trees, will be opened to the public Wednesday on a one-month trial basis. If enough tourists show up for a free-of-charge look, the house may be kept open year-round except when the President is at the ranch.

Eliminate Date of Birth
KINGSTON, R. I. (AP)—University of Rhode Island officials say some students falsify their ages when they fill out university identification cards. So the university plans to eliminate the student's date of birth from the card.

Famous Movie Star Killer Whale Is Dead

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Namu, the gentle world-famed killer whale who became a motion picture star and a subject for many scientific studies, is dead.

Ted Griffin, who bought the 4½-ton, 20-foot whale from two Namu, B.C., fishermen and brought him to Seattle for a marine attraction, said the friendly beast apparently drowned when he dove under a float at his waterfront pen and got caught in a net Saturday night.

Griffin said Namu had been acting odd for a week or so. He said summer is the whale mating season and that the big mammal, which had to come up for air from time to time, may have been trying to escape when he became entangled.

It was the first time a killer whale had been kept alive for any length of time in captivity.

Balkans Stirring Reds Cultivate Nationalism in Kremlin Battle

An AP News Analysis
By HENRY S. BRADSHAW
BUCHAREST, Romania (AP)—Nationalism, the powerful force that has often brought trouble to the Balkans, is stirring today in Romania.

The nation's Communist leaders are cultivating the nationalist spirit to unite the nation in a determination to seek its own destiny without interference from the Soviet Union. Romanian nationalism has proved a headache for the Kremlin, which has dominated this part of the Balkans for a generation.

In theory, Communists deplore nationalism, which runs counter to the Red credo that the workers of the world should unite and break down national barriers.

Romanian nationalism manifested itself several years ago in a rebellion against Moscow's economic plans. The Soviets wanted this land of rich wheat fields and oil wells to specialize in some products and import others, tying itself to Soviet economic needs.

Romania refused and made some pointed remarks about it being uncommunist for one country to try to exploit another.

Two Killed When Auto Hits Trees

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Two persons were killed today and three others injured, when their automobile failed to make a curve, struck several trees and rolled over on the Onondaga Indian Reservation in suburban Nedrow.

The dead, Miss Patricia Thomas, 20, and Ludwig Thomas, 17, were both of the reservation. They were not related, police said.

Miss Terry Thomas, 18, also of the reservation, was taken to Community General Hospital where her condition was reported critical.

Hospitalized at the Upstate Medical Center were LaVerne Lyons, 20, and Ronald Hill, 16, both of the reservation. Lyons' condition was reported as serious and Hill's as good.

Police said the driver, Earl Johnson, 21, of LaFayette suffered minor injuries and was not hospitalized.

Winds Cause Plane To Hit Goal Posts

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A pilot and his passenger were reported in good condition today, recovering from injuries suffered when their single-engine airplane was blown by winds against goal-posts as they tried to land on a high school football field in nearby West Seneca.

The pilot, Robert Schlemmer, 44, of Woodford, Pa., said he attempted the landing because he believed thundershowers in the area would prevent him from reaching the Buffalo airport, a private field.

Police said a gust of wind caused the Piper Cub to crash into the posts, injuring Schlemmer and his passenger, John Burke, 41, of Grand Island, N.Y. They were taken to Mercy Hospital.

The flight had originated from Tasa Field in Zelienople, Pa. Schlemmer's address is Box 41. Burke lives at 2225 Stony Point Rd.

McCardle Issues Statement About Primary Contest

James T. McCardle, candidate for Democratic State Committee for Ulster County at the Primary Election on June 28th issued the following statement:

Subsequent to the Primary Election of July 28th, I was advised by the Board of Elections that the unofficial canvass of votes showed that my adversary, John J. Schick, was leading me by 22 votes out of approximately 2,500 votes cast. However, I also learned that there were over 200 allegedly "void" ballots, a number which seemed to me to be unusually high. While I have not had the opportunity to examine all or even most of these ballots, I have learned from a random sampling of these supposedly void ballots were cast in my favor: for example, in the Fifth Ward of this City, 19 ballots were declared void by the Inspectors of Election, 18 of which were cast in my favor; in the Ninth Ward, there were 8 allegedly void ballots, 6 being in my favor; in the Tenth Ward, 5 declared void, 4 of which were cast for me; and in the fourth Ward, 11 allegedly void ballots, all of which were cast for me. Simple arithmetic shows that if these ballots are actually valid, I was the successful candidate for this office and not my opponent.

Show Cause Order

Accordingly, in order to inspect these ballots and to obtain a judicial determination as to their validity, I retained the firm of Ewig & Beck of this city to petition the Supreme Court for a recount. An order to show cause was signed by Hon. Louis G. Bruhn, Justice of the Supreme Court, requiring the Board of Elections, the Board of Supervisors, the other candidate and Aaron E. Klein, as Chairman of the Democratic County Committee to show cause before a Special Term of Supreme Court held at Albany on July 8th why such a recount should not be permitted and for other relief.

This order to show cause was required to be served upon the respondents by this past Wednesday, July 6th. My attorney personally served one of the Commissioners of Election and the Deputy Clerk of the Board of Supervisors. He attempted to serve Mr. Schick and Mr. Klein but, after waiting for one-half hour last Tuesday he was unable to serve them (despite the fact that he was advised that both were in) and gave them to the Sheriff's office for service. At the time he reminded the Sheriff's office that the papers had to be served on Mr. Schick and Mr. Klein by Wednesday.

New Proceeding

On Friday morning, the morning of the argument in Albany, my attorneys office received a call from the Sheriff's office advising that for some reason Mr. Schick had not in fact been served. Accordingly, our proceeding was dismissed and we have had to commence a new proceeding, the papers for which have now been prepared.

May Shift Matteawan Patients to Napanoch

Transfer of 400 patients from Matteawan State Hospital for Criminally Insane at Beacon to the Eastern Correctional Institution, Napanoch, is under consideration, according to Dr. W. Cecil Johnston, director of MSH.

Dr. Johnston noted that the move is anticipated to avert a reduction of the employee force at the Southern Dutchess institution.

There are 850 employees at Matteawan State Hospital at present to care for 950 patients according to the director. The hospital has a patient capacity of 1,700 and previously had 1,000 employees to care for them.

The population at Matteawan has dropped considerably since a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision that a mentally ill inmate in such an institution cannot be detained there beyond the expiration of his term.

Dr. Johnston said he is hopeful 400 mentally retarded patients can be transferred from Matteawan to the institution at Napanoch. Dr. Johnston said he is hopeful that Governor Rockefeller will sign the bill which will permit the transfer of the patients.

Power Failure At Benedictine

A loud explosion Sunday morning about 9:20 o'clock which alarmed residents of the Benedictine Hospital area, was attributed to a short circuit on the main feeder line from Central Hudson to the hospital.

Edwin B. Bolz, hospital administrator, said the short circuit in no way affected hospital routine, the hospital's emergency generator being called into service.

Repairs from Central Hudson and the Joe E. O'Connor Electrical Company had the cable back in operation around noon time.

Bolz said that the insulation of the feeder cable broke down causing the short and the subsequent explosion.
